Georgia Senators Only Speakers, Besides Presi- dent, on Program; Pa- rade Not Decided Upon.

Governor Talmadge yesterday was left off the Roosevelt home-coming celebration program but, along with other state officials, will be invited to be a privileged spectator when the President makes his address in Grant field during Thanksgiving week, an address which will climax the Georgia home-coming program.

This was decided yesterday at a meeting of the Georgia delegation in congress. In addition to the President there will be only two other speakers, Senators Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell, Jr. Senator Russell will preside over the Grant field meeting and welcome the President to Georgia on behalf of the congressional delegation and Senator George will present the chief executive.

The program was decided on in an executive meeting presided over by Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution, who acted on request of the two senators and the members of congress present.

Senator George, as spokesman for the delegation, announced the program at the conclusion of the executive meeting.

Stage for Guests.
Senator George explained that a speaker's platform would be erected at the head of Grant field and, immediately behind this, a stage for the distinguished guests, a group in which the delegation, announced the program at the conclusion of the executive meeting.

Counties May Not Collect Taxes For Lack of Appropriations Bill

Impending Financial Chaos Foreseen for State, With Schools, University System and Eleemosynary Institutions All Closed for Lack of Funds.

Reports reaching Atlanta yesterday said that a number of Georgia county officials were being informed by their attorneys that under the existing circumstances they cannot legally levy taxes in their counties.

These reports greatly excited state officials and the heads of various departments and agencies who foresaw that unless something is done to clarify the situation it may mean the closing of the common schools, the university system and the eleemosynary institutions for lack of funds.

It has been reported about the capitol that the Governor, who has announced he will not call a special session of the general assembly to pass an appropriations bill, is planning to put the state under martial law, attempt to collect taxes under the martial law proclamation and disburse what he collects as he deems fit.

If, as reported yesterday, the county officials will not levy taxes in the absence of an appropriations bill there will be nothing in the county collectors' office to bring to the capitol even though martial law should be proclaimed.

It also was pointed out yesterday that the levying of county taxes for expressly county purposes also is jeopardized by the lack of a general appropriations bill because the various county commissions cannot levy a tax for county purposes until they have levied a tax for state purposes.

The Governor was out of the state, making the first of two speeches he had scheduled for yesterday and today in Philadelphia and New York. Last week he said in a public address he would not call the extra session. Some of the closest observers of state politics believe he eventually will change his mind and call the session rather than lead the state into a chaos such as it has never seen before.

The general assembly failed to pass a bill during its regular session because the house and senate were unable to get together on items favored by the Governor.

3 FATALITIES SPUR DRIVE FOR SAFETY

Observance of Pledge Rules Would Have Saved Lives; Thousands Help.

Three dead this week, in Atlanta and environs alone. More than a dozen injured, crippled, lamed and lacerated. All of them victims of traffic accidents which, by observance of all the rules of safety, might have been avoided.

The dire need for safe drivers, safe not only for themselves and the passengers in their cars, but for every other autoist and every pedestrian on the streets and highways they use, cannot be more emphatically stated.

If, by some magician's power, every automobile driver in Georgia could be made to observe the pledge, the number of deaths and injuries would be reduced to a negligible figure. The pledge is simple, and every driver should know it.

Do you wonder why The Safety Council of The Constitution is asking every automobile driver in Georgia to sign the Safe Driving pledge, which, today and every day for the next few weeks, has been published in each edition of this paper?

Do you wonder why, when people pass your car and fail to see the little red stickers on windshield and rear window that tell that you, for one, have sworn to observe the rules of safety, they wonder why you will not do your part?

Don't think those stickers, by the way, are unimportant, that you have done your part when you have signed the Safe Driving pledge. Send your pledge to The Safety Council of The Constitution, with stamp, addressed envelope for reply, and affix the stickers you receive in return to your car. They are the symbol of your resolve and the example to others.

Pledges are reaching this office by scores and by hundreds every mail. Approximately 25,000 have already signed their names, volunteers in the drive for safety.

AUDITOR TESTIFIES COUNTY OPERATING WITHIN ITS BUDGET

Commissioner E. F. Johnson Makes Public Evi- dence of Board and Au- ditor Before Grand Jury

Sworn testimony by Thomas S. Respass, county auditor, that Fulton county is living within its budget was revealed yesterday when Commissioner Edwin F. Johnson, leader of the majority faction of the county commission, made public a transcript of the evidence offered the five-member grand jury by the five commissioners and the county auditor.

The record of what took place within the grand jury room last week, (at the time Johnson made charges of criminal offenses against Commissioner George F. Longino), was openly discussed yesterday by the majority leader with representatives of newspapers a short while after George W. McCarty, foreman of the July-August grand jury, made public the testimony of the commissioners before his grand jury.

McCarty and R. I. Barge, secretary of the July-August grand jury, refuted Johnson's assertion that recommendations of their grand jury were passed by the slimness of majorities, declaring only three jurors voted against the special presentments and that the final presentments, which severely criticized Johnson, were adopted unanimously.

Copy of Testimony.
Johnson furnished The Constitution with a copy of the court reporter's transcript of testimony given by Thomas S. Respass, himself, Commissioner Longino, Dr. C. R. Adams, chairman of the commission, and Commissioners Ed L. Almond and J. A. Regan.

Thomas S. Respass told the September jury committee, which is headed by Chairman H. G. King, that the county is operating within its budget. He said the county is not in debt and that the budget is balanced both on a cash and accrued basis.

In the testimony made public by Johnson, he said the county is not in debt and that the budget is balanced both on a cash and accrued basis.

Both Respass said county salaries are from 10 to 15 per cent higher than in other counties. He said the county is not in debt and that the budget is balanced both on a cash and accrued basis.

Thomas S. Respass told the jurors that in his opinion, the difference between the county's budget and the actual expenditures is due to the fact that the county is not in debt and that the budget is balanced both on a cash and accrued basis.

In answering the charges of George F. Longino that if the present rate of spending is continued by the county, Fulton will be bankrupt, Respass said that an estimate of the expenditures for the remainder of the year could not be reached by a comparison with the expenditures for the earlier months.

A considerable sum has been spent for materials and appropriations that have been paid in full and will not have to be repeated, he said. Commissioner Johnson pointed out as an example the cost of putting into shape the machinery with which the public works department operates.

Respass declared that he had been in the anti-mooching report of the certain economies necessary to keep the budget within its prescribed limits will be put into effect.

Most of the evidence and testimony in the two reports already published in The Constitution, including the five charges made against Longino by Johnson.

It was brought out by Johnson that the county is not in debt and that the budget is balanced both on a cash and accrued basis.

NON-COMBATANTS WRITE WITH PAIN IN SICKENING FOG

Bombs Burst Over Wide Area in Ogaden Pro- vince, Official of Army Tells Correspondents.

By H. R. EKINS.
Copyright, 1935, by United Press.
BEHIND THE ETHIOPIAN SOUTHERN ARMIES AT HARAR, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Italian airplanes have dropped a number of bombs filled with noxious yellow gas on the Ethiopian front lines, Dedjazmatch Nassibou commanding Ethiopian concentrations in central Ogaden province, said today.

The bombs burst over a wide area which was blanketed with a thick, yellowish fog, the commander said. The gas "caused soldiers and non-combatants to fall to the ground and suffer painfully."

Nassibou was not certain but believed the bombs were charged with mustard gas, which was widely used in the World War.

The commander returned here this morning from his advance headquarters near Jijiga. He said his concentrations in Ogaden province were continuing and that all passes leading from the plain that fronts Italian Somaliland now were defended. The gas attacks created only temporary confusion among the warriors, who rapidly are learning how to escape air raids.

Nassibou was indignant about the alleged gas attack, however, asserting that the Italian use of such weapons was "incredible and disgusting."

"The Italians apparently will stop at nothing," he said. "They are using airplanes, tanks, armored cars and long-range artillery in their effort to enslave us. But the world need not doubt the outcome. Our spirits remain unbroken. This use of gas on the Ogaden front merely makes us realize the tremendousness of our task in repelling these invaders."

Only a few of the regular Ethiopian troops have gas masks. The irregulars holding the present entrenched line north of Gerolubi and Garahai have no anti-gas equipment.

NORTHERN SECTORS
UNDER ITALIAN RULE
By ANDRUE BEEDING.
WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES ON THE NORTHERN ETHIOPIAN FRONT, Oct. 8.—A rich region of northern Ethiopia, 60 miles deep along a 60-mile front, was completely under the domination of Italy's armed legions today.

This correspondent, on a 26-hour, exhaustive visit along the front, found the inhabitants apparently already accustomed to this occupation and going about their daily work as if nothing had happened.

Aduwa, a poor village of 3,000 souls, which fell to the Italian invaders of a 23-year-old defeat on Sunday, was busy repairing the damage wrought by Count Galeazzo Ciano's aerial bombardment which preceded the capture.

The Italian consul at Aduwa, Signor France, who had been missing for several days, returned to his work. He said that the Italians were ploughing with implements made of sharpened poles tied upright to a stick without handles and drawn by teams of oxen.

Italy's eager blackshirts were held in check by their commanders from further advances, and the armies were consolidating their positions along the Aduwa-Aldigat line, letting the big guns of the artillery clear the enemy from the mountains immediately beyond this point.

"A friend of mine was telling me how good I looked," he said. "He said he understood the cause, however, because his newspaper had carried an account of the moochings."

One by one, virtually the entire board obtained the floor either to defend the board itself or to belay the press for mooching intimations. Cook voted against passage of the rule, asserting: "If we vote for it, we admit we have been guilty."

U. S. BANK DENIES CREDIT TO ITALY

Officials Say Same Action Will Be Taken Against Haile If Loan Is Sought.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP)—In step with the neutrality marching orders given by President Roosevelt, the Export-Import Bank was disclosed today to have decided against granting credits for the sale of goods to Italy.

Bank officials said the same action probably would be taken with regard to Ethiopia if the question should arise, but that there had been no applications for loans to finance trade with the African monarchy.

They added, however, that the Italian action, although in conformance with the administration policy, had no connection with either the arms embargo or President Roosevelt's warning that Americans who travel on ships of or trade with the warring countries do so at their own risk.

The vote was taken by the bank's board of directors in August, officials said, when Italy was in the midst of preparations for her march on Ethiopia. There were several applications pending for aid in financing the cost of cotton and other materials to Italy.

Officials said that at that time, in view of the preparations for war and other considerations, the board decided that trade with Italy should not be financed by the bank. The vote had been taken at a definite decision of policy until conditions changed to that policy, they said.

These officials added that although there had been numerous applications for aid in financing sales to Italy, the board's decision came before any commitments had been made. The bank has no loans outstanding on exports to Italy.

Nor, officials said, does the bank have any loans outstanding on arms or munitions shipments—the board decided early in the life of the bank that it should not help finance munitions sales.

Royal Son Is Born To Duchess of Kent

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(Wednesday)—(AP)—A son was born to the Duchess of Kent early today.

The baby ranks seventh in line of succession to the throne of Great Britain.

He was born to the former Princess Marina, of Greece, early this morning at the London home, No. 3 Belgrave Square.

The Duke of Kent, fourth son of King George, and the Princess Marina were married last November 29.

Prince Nicholas, of Greece, and his wife, who arrived in London last weekend, were summoned to their daughter's side from their West End hotel.

POSTAL ACCORDS MAY BE BROKEN UNDER SANCTIONS

Munitions and Products for Their Manufacture Expected To Be Shut Off When Geneva's Plan Is Put Into Final Effect.

DEFINITE PROGRAM EXPECTED MONDAY

Experts To Study Measures of Restraint for Imposition on Nations Violating Their Treaties

GENEVA, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A league "general staff" for encircling Italy with economic pressure was already informally in action tonight on the eve of a vital meeting of the assembly to discuss sanctions.

Technical experts who may help the staff in its complicated and huge task already are beginning to arrive. Although not yet officially constituted, it was learned the "general staff" will include in its membership all members of the council except Italy. This is a total of 13 nations, Great Britain and France among them.

A basis for the application of sanctions, League officials said, probably will be found in the report of experts appointed to consider what measures of restraint could be imposed upon countries endangering peace through treaty violation.

The committee reported munitions and products required for the manufacture of munitions could be shut off from the offending country.

To bring about financial pressure, the committee suggested: A ban by member nations on the opening of credits in favor of the country to be punished; a ban on the public issue of loans abroad; and short term credit operations.

Among problems being discussed by experts was whether application of sanctions automatically cancels all trade treaties which League states have with Italy.

A strict application of the non-intercourse provisions of Article XVI would involve even the abrogation of international postal agreements with Rome.

The "general staff" or co-ordination committee, to be created by the assembly, was not expected to report back with a definite plan of sanctions before next Monday. Between now and then technical difficulties may be ironed out.

Even after its plan of campaign has been approved and the actual date for the beginning of sanctions, the League staff will have to persuade the nations—there are 54 in the assembly—to carry out the scheme. It cannot command them.

Justice Must Agree.
This was carefully pointed out today by spokesmen of leading delegations. It is therefore imperative that

VALETTA, Malta, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Nine Italians, reportedly including officials of the Banca di Roma and fascist steamship and airways lines, were arrested today.

Police refused to divulge the names of those arrested or the charges against them. Several were taken into custody during a raid on the Banca di Roma this afternoon. Other arrests were made later.

Italian Anti-Fascists Denounce Mussolini

GENEVA, Oct. 8.—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini was branded the "worst enemy of the Italian people" today at a meeting of Italian anti-fascists ranging from communists to liberals.

The meeting adopted a resolution denouncing the Italian war against Ethiopia as an "adventure of a dictatorship at the end of its resources, which is seeking desperately, by remote military enterprises, to gain political success."

Any idea that board members were accused of mooching free lunches or other meals was just a "figment of the imagination of reporters," it was pointed out.

George W. Powell, a former president of the board, told the board that he and one other member mooched a free meal once, but promised to reform. He said he would take his own sandwiches on his "official" visits to schools in the future.

Mooching? Horrors! No! But Barred Nevertheless by School Board

Atlanta Board of Education members don't "mooch"—at least they don't make a habit of it—and they don't have any imputation that such is a general practice.

That was the gist of several lengthy addresses yesterday afternoon when the anti-mooching report of the cafeteria committee was presented.

Louis Geffen, chairman, offered the committee report with apologies for "misleading press accounts." The report, which the board already has approved, clearly and definitely makes it against the rules of the board for any employee, administration official, board member or any other person to get free meals at school cafeterias.

Wanted: By G. O. P., Candidate---Cobb

By IRVING S. COBB.

Copyright, 1935, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.
CARMEL, Cal., Oct. 8.—Mr. Hoover says that, at the end of this month, the unpaid government obligations will exceed thirty-five billions, whereupon Senate Leader Robinson indignantly shrieked that, on June 30, 1936, the total national debt will approximate only thirty billions, seven hundred and twenty-four millions and some odd change.

But to any orthodox member of the last congress, what's a mere bagatelle of four or five billions? The boys took those trifles off the same as Detroit bating in runs in the ninth inning of a World's series game. And anyhow, doesn't it still give us six full months next year to overtake the Hoover estimate? Why, it'll be like taking candy from a taxpayer.

That western states crowd at Oakland, to which Mr. Hoover was talking, adjourned after giving President Roosevelt credit for furnishing the republicans with all the campaign issues they'll need next year. So now, if somebody would kindly dig them up a candidate, their cup of grateful joy would be absolutely overflow.

PARALYSIS VACCINE IS FEARED UNSAFE

Two 'Preventatives' for Children's Disease Discussed at Health Meeting.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The safety of one of the two infantile paralysis vaccines now in use, and the protective powers of the other, were challenged by two medical authorities and defended by their developers today at the American Public Health Association.

Within the past year about 20,000 persons, mostly children, have been vaccinated with the two substances, both made from the bodies of the virus, or "agent," which caused infantile paralysis.

The challenges were issued on a program arranged to bring officials before American health authorities the problems involved in testing these vaccines on a large scale on human beings. The paralysis program was held by the laboratory section of the association, with four speakers.

Two were the authors of the vaccines, respectively, Dr. John A. Kolmer, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Maurice Brodie, of New York. Officially appointed to discuss their two reports were Thomas M. Rivers, of the Rockefeller Institute, New York, and Dr. James P. Leake, one of the leading surgeons of the United States Public Health Service.

Drs. Rivers and Leake both asserted they doubted the safety of the Kolmer vaccine. The doubts were based, they said, on the fact that eight out of about 12,000 persons vaccinated with the Kolmer substance have come down with infantile paralysis.

Doctors Rivers and Leake held these eight might have caught the disease from vaccine. Dr. Kolmer said the circumstances pointed strongly toward the explanation the eight had contracted the disease before being vaccinated and not from the vaccine itself.

Dr. Kolmer, however, is "more than ever convinced" that he is on the trail of a real protection.

"I ask that judgment be suspended," he said in an interview after the meeting, "until I can give the medical profession the full report on this vaccine at St. Louis on November 21."

OLD GUARD TO SET MARKER THURSDAY

Parade To Precede Dedication of Marker on Battle of Atlanta Site.

Ten Atlanta military units will parade at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when the Old Guard marches from the Seaboard bridge on Peachtree street to Peachtree Battle avenue to place its fourth marker in commemoration of the Battle of Atlanta.

With a police escort, Brigadier General James H. Reeves and his special staff will lead a parade of the Governor's Home Guard, national guardsmen of the 122nd infantry regiment, American Legionnaires and delegations from six local schools. The naval reserve unit of Georgia Tech and the military units of Georgia Tech, Boys' and Tech High schools, Georgia Military Academy and Marietta College will march just ahead of the Old Guard, colorful Atlanta organization.

Major Charles P. Byrd and members of several veterans' organizations will make brief talks at the ceremonies, before placing of a tall granite marker, with its cross-guns and Confederate soldier. The occasion will mark the placing of the fourth marker by the Old Guard within a year, it was said.

RETAIL FOOD PRICE SHOWS SMALL RISE

Increase of One-Tenth of One Per Cent Noted in U. S. Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A retail food price rise of one-tenth of 1 per cent during the two weeks ended September 24, was reported today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The fractional increase was attributed largely to a marked advance in egg prices in all areas. Of the 48 foods included in the index 13 showed increases, 20 decreases, and 15 no price change.

The current index, 124 (based on 100 for 1913), is 6.6 per cent higher than for the corresponding period of last year. The prices as compared with last year range from 4 per cent higher for citrus in the Pacific to 9.1 per cent in the South Atlantic region and 10 per cent in the east north central cities.

During the two-week period meat prices were re-elected for three-tenths of 1 per cent. A drop of 16.7 per cent in the price of fresh milk in St. Louis was cited as responsible for a drop of one-tenth of 1 per cent in the dairy products group. Butter and cheese prices increased three-tenths and four-tenths of 1 per cent respectively.

Although the advance of 2.3 per cent for eggs was reported as seasonal, the present level of egg prices was said to be higher than in any September period since 1930.

4 DIRECTORS RENAMED BY SOUTHERN RAILWAY

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Southern railway re-elected four directors whose terms expire and heard encouraging reports from President Fairfax Harrison at their annual meeting here today.

Directors re-elected for three-year terms were John Stewart Bryan, of Richmond, and Oliver Iselin, Devereux Milburn and George A. Sloan, of New York.

Mr. Harrison reported a substantial increase in revenues for the Southern since August 1 and predicted that the company would continue during the next year. Commenting on a continued increase in operating expenses he said the "burden of wages we are paying today is too great for our revenues."

TENNESSEAN NAMED DIRECTOR OF N. C. & ST. L.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Frank E. Gillette, Nashville grain executive, was elected a director of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway today, succeeding the late E. W. Thompson, of Nashville.

BRITISH STUDENT ASKS AMITY WITH AMERICA

Scholar Wants To Clean-Up Erroneous Conceptions of England and U. S.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 8.—(UP)—Willie Owen, a marked Welsh accent and $3,000 stipend through the American equivalent of England's famous Rhodes Scholarship Fund, has enrolled at the University of Minnesota "to get America straight for the English."

Willie, who registered as William T. Owen, of Wales—is in the United States by virtue of a trust fund established by the late Stephen W. Harkness, American philanthropist, to further "the mutual amity and understanding between Great Britain and the United States of America."

He admitted he was still a bit confused about the whole American scene, but he thinks the $3,000 will help to clear up a lot.

"I think my studies here will help to clear up many bad impressions back home about you Americans," he said. "Both Americans and Englishmen are erroneous in many of their conceptions about each other. For example, you think of us in terms of top hats, monocles, tea and quiet country scenes. On the other hand, we think of you in terms of newspapers, magazines and movies, as an America of night clubs, gangsters and comic negroes."

His path to a better understanding has been made easier, he said, by his acquaintance, early in his stay here, with two distinctly American phenomena:

1. The college fraternity.
2. The second-hand automobile.

"I don't know which was the more puzzling at first, but now I am getting to like them both," he confessed.

He revealed he had joined a national social fraternity and had invested part of his $3,000 in a car.

Travel, too, has helped him to understand Americans and living in this country, he explained. A liberal travel fund is allowed him for Christmas and summer vacations and he already has made a three-month tour through the north, the southwest and to the Pacific coast.

"Through daily contact with your country for the past three months, I have gradually come to know your people and to understand some of the things you do that seem feverish to us," he said.

Willie Owen is two other British subjects, Alan Gammell, Glasgow, Scotland, and James Gibbs, of New Zealand. All plan to return to their homes after finishing the four-year course here.

WARMER WEATHER IS EXPECTED HERE

Temperature Climb Is Behind That of Rest of Country.

Atlanta's weather will start a slow and gradual return to normal today, bringing the frost-bitten southeast to more of a climatic par with the rest of the country, according to word late yesterday from the Atlanta Weather Bureau.

The mercury, which sank to 36 in Atlanta yesterday morning—13 degrees colder than it was in Winnipeg, Canada—and climbed no higher than 96 during the day, will get back into the 70s under the warm rays of the sun, the meteorologists report.

The climb of temperatures in the southeast was behind other sections of the country.

Yesterday's frost around Atlanta was heavy and "probably killing," according to the weather bureau. It extended as far south as Macon, Ga. The mercury yesterday sank to 50 at Valdosta, 46 at Moultrie, 35 at Athens, 33 at Rome, 35 at Toccoa, 35 at Newnan, 38 at Chattanooga, 38 at Columbus, Savannah, Augusta and Thomasville reported temperatures in the 40s.

Beans, tomatoes and sweet potatoes were the heaviest sufferers in the frost area.

FRANCE TO INCREASE DEFENSE FUND IN '36

PARIS, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Marcel Regnier, minister of finance, announced today that France was spending $4,500,000,000—$384,650,000—on armaments in 1936.

"When Europe and the whole world is ringing with the sound of arms," he told the chamber of deputies' finance committee, "it is no time to renounce financial sacrifices."

Emergency arms appropriations are added to the regular army, navy and aviation budgets.

With these additions, the national defense expenditures will be 12,142,000,000 francs—$801,372,000.

The regular navy budget is 1,381,438,557 francs.

The regular army budget is 4,308,285,970 francs.

The regular air budget is 903,545,468 francs.

WIFE LEAVES ICKES HER $500,000 FORTUNE

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes was left virtually the entire $500,000 estate of his wife, the late Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, in her will, which was admitted today.

Bequests included Julia Ickes Hazard, of Altoona, Pa., $2,500, and Wayne H. Thompson, of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, $5,000.

Mrs. Ickes was fatally injured August 31 in an automobile accident near Velarde, N. M.

Peaceful Recovery of Industry Foreseen by Secretary Perkins

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Peaceful industrial recovery was foreseen today by Secretary Perkins of the labor department.

Instead of strikes and lockouts that have marked the ends of past depressions, both employers and employees were turning to the various government labor boards for aid in settling their differences, Miss Perkins told the American Federation of Labor convention.

She predicted that this policy would become even more general as recovery progressed.

"These agencies will gather authority as the years go on and as the spirit of co-operation between employers and employees continues to grow, they will become increasingly aware that it is in their interest and in the interest of the public as well, we will find the good offices of these boards being sought more and more as a voluntary substitute for long and costly strikes and lockouts," she said.

Jubilantly, Miss Perkins told the 600 delegates of signs that business steadily was getting better.

"The present acceleration is nationwide and industry-wide and is marked by the highly significant fact that the durable-goods industries are forging to the front," she said.

"These industries, as a rule, are the first to suffer from a depression and the last to recover. The latest reports to the United States Department of Labor on construction activity, steel production, automobile machinery and machine tools, in particular, leaves no doubt that the building trades department row and the industrial union issue.

"Whether workers in a mass production industry should be divided among craft unions or organized into one big union was the issue that promised to bring the biggest scrap at the convention.

WE DRIVERS

A Series of Brief Discussions on Driving, Dedicated to the Safety, Comfort and Pleasure of the Motoring Public. Prepared by General Motors.

No. 2—NIGHT DRIVING

IT'S JUST AS TRUE as can be that when people get expert at anything they're apt to begin getting careless about it, and that's what we have to look out for when driving our cars. For instance, we recently heard a group of engineers discussing night driving, and one thing they kept talking about was "over-driving our headlights."

Now that term seems to be a common one with them, but it's new to most of us.

What they mean is that the distance we can see clearly by headlights is, of course, limited, and that we are apt to let our car speed get beyond the point where we could easily stop within that limited distance. It's true that we naturally tend to go a little slower at night. But if we aren't careful we gradually get going faster than we realize, and that may get us into trouble. You see, momentum, the same force that tries to keep us from making turns safely; that keeps all kinds of papers on slippery roads... never sleeps! He works on the same old principles night and day. Darkness doesn't hinder him, but it hinders us.

Most modern headlights are pretty wonderful lights, but after all they don't give us the distance or clarity of vision that daylight does. So, on considerably shorter notice than in the daytime a vehicle or pedestrian can come out of the darkness. Almost before we know it we may have to slow down or stop for someone or something on the road... perhaps one of those big lumbering trucks that you barely see till you're right up on them; or a car whose tail-light has gone out... an unexpected curve, or what not.

And that's where we meet up with momentum again. You see, stopping isn't the simple action we always thought it was. The truth is, we are told, that there are really three things we have to do to stop. First we have to think of stopping. Next we have to move one foot over on to the brake pedal. And then we have to push down on the brake pedal.

Now we might not believe it, but they tell us those first two steps take time. Less than a second, perhaps, but even in that instant momentum is carrying us on. In fact, at only 20 miles an hour the average driver goes 22 feet before he can even start to use the brakes.

Then after he does get the brakes to working, it takes him another 18 feet to stop completely, even with the best brakes in the world and with good tires, under favorable road conditions. At least so we are told by the State Board of Public Works.

One of the states which has made a very intensive study of drivers and driving conditions, and which has prepared the data for the above chart.

The important thing to realize is that distance needed to stop increases a great deal as we increase our speed.

We just have to remember that when we're moving along in a car, we think by the foot, act by the foot and stop by the foot, and if we aren't careful, it's easy to get going faster than is really safe.

Now, just as engineers have told us how to operate in safety with our own lights, many experienced drivers have pointed out how to avoid trouble from other people's lights. They say that all we have to do, when passing other cars at night, is to stop looking at their lights and watch the right-hand side of the road.

The truth of the matter is that night driving can be just as pleasant and just as safe as day driving. But we have to be more alert and more careful.

SOUTH'S LABOR UNREST BELIEVED SPREADING

Labor and Capital Reach Impasse in Two Bitter Strikes.

By The United Press.

Industrial unrest affecting 30,000 wage earners below the Mason-Dixon line appeared spreading last night as labor and capital reached impasses in two bitter strikes.

The strike of 10,000 stevedores in four east Gulf ports was about to spread to Texas docks as the National Longshoremen's Association and shippers drew battle lines for a long-drawn struggle.

Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, was taking steps to make certain note of the 17,000 striking coal miners in the Birmingham bituminous field go hungry. On strike since September 23, the Alabama workers were roused by absolute refusal of major operators to sign new contracts on a higher wage basis.

A strike of 2,000 WPA workers in Walker county, Alabama, was nearing settlement, although a second day-nighting developed Monday night.

Agreement on a general wage basis was expected to send all WPA workers in the strike sector back to their jobs today.

As New Orleans shippers rejected "friendly services" of Edward F. McGrady, President Roosevelt's major labor trouble shooter, the longshoremen's strike grew more serious at New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola and Gulfport. Continuing to load cargo with service of independent stevedores, shippers dismissed McGrady with the brusque statement: "There is no strike."

The strike in east Gulf ports primarily is for union recognition, although higher wages also are asked. The strike at Galveston and Lake Charles, if called, would be for higher wages.

At a stalemate in wage negotiations with major operators, United Mine Workers' officials in Birmingham turned to owners of small mines in an effort to send a fraction of Alabama's 17,000 striking coal miners back to the pits.

At the same time, however, the Alabama Mining Institute, spokesman for all major operators, said it could not alter an original proposal for renewal of all contracts at old rates. The proposal was termed "impossible" by union representatives last week as peace negotiations collapsed.

Governor Graves announced that the state of Alabama will advance funds from its welfare department appropriations to feed hungry families of coal strikers. The money, to be made available in five counties, will be contingent on the counties matching 80 per cent allocations with 20 per cent raised from their own sources, Graves said.

It was estimated this setup will care for approximately 10,000 of the 17,000 jobless coal miners. In cases where counties are unable immediately to raise their share of the relief funds, Graves will allow the state to advance money in the form of loans, he said.

3 NEGROES HELD IN HOLDUP SERIES

Police Claim Confessions From Trio; Three Victims Make Identification.

Two negroes, one of whom was arrested Saturday night in the act of committing a holdup, according to police, were identified yesterday by victims of a series of recent holdups as the two men who had committed the crimes. A third negro was arrested at his home in connection with the same holdups.

Robert Richards and John Willis were pointed out in a police lineup by O. W. Lane, a barber, as the pair who held him up and robbed him Saturday night on Lawn street, near Henry street. Mary Word, negro, living in the rear of a Larkin place address, also identified the pair as the two who held her up and robbed her the same night.

Richards, in addition, was identified by V. H. Crowe, a street car operator, as the man who held him up and robbed him of $35 on September 28 at Chapel and Ella streets.

Richards, when arrested, told police that his accomplice was James Willis, a brother of John Willis, they said. Officers went to the Willis home, where James Willis was found hiding. He was charged with suspicion of robbery.

Police are attempting to link the trio with other recent holdups. The negroes, officers reported, admitted the holdups in which they were allegedly identified, but claimed they had not staged any other crimes.

6,494 CCC JOBS OPEN IN FOURTH CORPS AREA

Despite the fact that 61 CCC camps will be eliminated in the fourth corps area within the next month, 5,549 Juniors and 945 veterans will be enrolled during October, Major E. O. Sandlin, CCC officer in charge, said yesterday.

On September 30, after a number of enrollees were discharged, the strength of the corps was left at 82,722, Major Sandlin said.

The strength of the CCC in the country was authorized at 500,000 men by President Roosevelt before his western trip.

The expected loss of companies or camps in this corps area, Major Sandlin said, is attributed to a proposed cut in the national corps strength to 300,000 by next July.

Men in camps to be eliminated are to be transferred to the camps to be retained, Major Sandlin added.

He is awaiting an order from Robert Fechner, national director of the CCC, designating the camps to be eliminated in the fourth corps area.

JURY INDICTS OETGEN FOR PRODUCE FRAUD

A man listed as Edgar O. Oetgen, Atlanta, was indicted by a federal grand jury here yesterday on 15 counts charging operation of a produce fraud scheme.

The indictment charged the man attempted to defraud people in Georgia, Florida and Alabama by mailing postcards and letters to them "representing himself as a bona fide dealer."

Assistant District Attorney Sidney Camp said the man received produce from the people he wrote to, but they claimed they did not receive pay for it.

WPA Project Quotas Are Fixed At Final Total of $1,140,000,000

Complete Distribution of State Allotments Is Listed for First Time by Statement Issued From Works Progress Headquarters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Works Progress Administration said tonight its project quotas had been fixed at $1,140,000,000, of which President Roosevelt has allotted $809,077,211 and Comptroller General J. R. McCarl has approved $338,880,956.

"Any apparent lag in the comptroller general's approvals is to be attributed to the heavy volume of work devolving upon his office," the WPA statement added.

It listed for the first time a complete distribution of WPA state quotas. Many showed sharp slashes resulting from the reduction from WPA's expected $2,000,000,000.

Nation-Wide Projects. Of the $1,140,000,000 total, $68,620,000 was set aside for nation-wide projects, including $27,056,288 for the national youth movement and $27,315,217 for white collar projects.

In some instances in the state list, figures listed for money which had cleared both President Roosevelt and McCarl was larger than the state quota. Officials explained that $142,272,000 in cancelled projects had been included "before the recessions were made of record."

Five of the six states, in which direct relief already has been discontinued were among those faring best in cash released by McCarl—Indiana, Alabama, Vermont, Wyoming and New Hampshire. No WPA projects have been approved for Nevada, the sixth, but 252 employed by other agencies were said to make up almost all that state's employables on relief.

Maine Without Funds. Maine also was without funds to carry on WPA projects, while only $25,000 has been released for Arizona and $23,000 for Iowa.

Officials said that state quotas had been determined by a formula involving the total on relief and the cost per man for providing work up to July 1. The average was $500 with a range from around $400 in the deep south to $700 or $800 in northern and western states.

The following table shows the state quotas, the presidential allotment, the amount cleared by McCarl and the number of jobs WPA last week reported created in the state:

State	Quota	Allotted	Cleared	Jobs
Alabama	11,710,000	$ 9,374,206	$12,874,874	24,098
Arkansas	11,170,000	8,897,452	7,530,289	17,281
Florida	8,550,000	8,808,989	4,079,180	15,053
Georgia	14,720,000	12,854,080	10,351,027	19,600
Louisiana	12,490,000	10,955,983	3,072,274	919
Mississippi	6,100,000	2,749,966	1,433,210	1,000
North Carolina	8,650,000	7,223,856	2,096,718	770

'Defense of Constitution' Appeals Scored by Congressman Ramspeck

Heads of government departments and agencies in Atlanta were warned yesterday by Congressman Robert Ramspeck to "take with a grain of salt" these appeals that are being broadcast to the nation to "come to the defense of the constitution."

Ramspeck's arguments were directed to members of the Federal Business Association, gathered in their regular meeting in the federal district court room in the old postoffice building.

"I don't know anybody who is trying to tear down the constitution," said Ramspeck. "Everyone knows that the constitution, as it was originally written, was not a satisfactory document. I challenge anyone to read the original document and the first ten amendments and say that the one could do without the other."

Ramspeck explained the course that an amendment to the constitution must follow before it can be adopted and declared that the legal path laid out for an amendment assures the country that no change can be made without the full consent of the majority of voters.

Ramspeck also urged the members of the association to read the financial pages of the newspapers every day to assure themselves that recovery is here.

"The tables in the market columns of the newspapers will prove, day by day, that the steel business, the automobile business, the retail and wholesale markets are rapidly approaching normal soundness and all of this has been accomplished under the leadership of President Roosevelt," declared Ramspeck.

Ramspeck discussed legislation passed by the recently adjourned congress and matters pending for the next session. He also discussed efforts to work out legislation providing better working conditions for federal employees.

Two negroes, one of whom was arrested Saturday night in the act of committing a holdup, according to police, were identified yesterday by victims of a series of recent holdups as the two men who had committed the crimes. A third negro was arrested at his home in connection with the same holdups.

Robert Richards and John Willis were pointed out in a police lineup by O. W. Lane, a barber, as the pair who held him up and robbed him Saturday night on Lawn street, near Henry street. Mary Word, negro, living in the rear of a Larkin place address, also identified the pair as the two who held her up and robbed her the same night.

Richards, in addition, was identified by V. H. Crowe, a street car operator, as the man who held him up and robbed him of $35 on September 28 at Chapel and Ella streets.

Richards, when arrested, told police that his accomplice was James Willis, a brother of John Willis, they said. Officers went to the Willis home, where James Willis was found hiding. He was charged with suspicion of robbery.

Police are attempting to link the trio with other recent holdups. The negroes, officers reported, admitted the holdups in which they were allegedly identified, but claimed they had not staged any other crimes.

6,494 CCC JOBS OPEN IN FOURTH CORPS AREA

Despite the fact that 61 CCC camps will be eliminated in the fourth corps area within the next month, 5,549 Juniors and 945 veterans will be enrolled during October, Major E. O. Sandlin, CCC officer in charge, said yesterday.

On September 30, after a number of enrollees were discharged, the strength of the corps was left at 82,722, Major Sandlin said.

The strength of the CCC in the country was authorized at 500,000 men by President Roosevelt before his western trip.

The expected loss of companies or camps in this corps area, Major Sandlin said, is attributed to a proposed cut in the national corps strength to 300,000 by next July.

Men in camps to be eliminated are to be transferred to the camps to be retained, Major Sandlin added.

He is awaiting an order from Robert Fechner, national director of the CCC, designating the camps to be eliminated in the fourth corps area.

JURY INDICTS OETGEN FOR PRODUCE FRAUD

The indictment charged the man attempted to defraud people in Georgia, Florida and Alabama by mailing postcards and letters to them "representing himself as a bona fide dealer."

Assistant District Attorney Sidney Camp said the man received produce from the people he wrote to, but they claimed they did not receive pay for it.

FAIR ATTENDANCE RECORDS BROKEN

653,988 Total Obtained by Correct Addition of Exhibition Figures.

A new all-time attendance record was established by the Southeastern Fair and Cotton States Exposition which closed Sunday. It is revealed by a comparison of the figures for this year, as announced yesterday by Mike Benton, president, with those as recorded by The Constitution in October, 1934.

The total number of persons who entered the gateways this year was 653,988, which is 124,532 greater than the total attendance of 529,456 last year. Friday, the record day, 112,113 visited the fairgrounds, with approximately 60,000 school children in the crowd. On the closing Sunday, 89,862 were in attendance.

"We had a nice increase in gate receipts and tickets to shows," Mr. Benton said yesterday. "I believe the volume of business done by shows was doubled over any previous year. We won't know definitely what success we had until the audit is completed in a week's time."

Day-by-day attendance figures, as revealed yesterday, are: Sunday, 86,721; Monday, 47,632; Tuesday, 92,104; Wednesday, 64,908; Thursday, 82,008; Friday, 112,113; Saturday, 100,242; and Sunday, 89,862.

JUVENILE WILDS TAKEN BY HILLSIDE

Court Accepts Offer of Community Chest Agency in Fire Emergency.

Offer of Hillside Cottages to care for the children in the juvenile detention home, which was damaged seriously by fire Monday afternoon, was accepted yesterday by Judge Garland Watkins, of the juvenile court.

Four white children who were in the home when flames broke out found a temporary haven Monday night at Hillside, and will remain there as long as necessary.

Other children in the custody of the juvenile court will be cared for at Hillside cottages during the emergency.

"We offered our facilities to Judge Watkins, and he was delighted," Mrs. L. K. Starr, president of Hillside Cottages, said yesterday.

"We put the children in beds that we had set aside for a hospital ward. None of our children have been ill, and they have been vacant."

"Hillside Cottages always works with public and private agencies for the care of children and we are happy to be able to help out."

Hillside Cottages is an agency of the Community Chest, and is given permanent custody of a number of children by the juvenile court. These children are placed through the Child Welfare Association, another agency of the Community Chest that supervises the care and placement of dependent and neglected children.

Examiner for I. C. C. Takes Question of Increase Under Advisement.

A. G. Hagerty, examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission, late yesterday took under advisement the question of whether Georgia's rates on class and commodity freight should be maintained or increased 15 per cent.

Railroads, seeking to increase the Georgia intrastate rate to the status of interstate freight since April 15, completed presentation of their evidence at a hearing before Hagerty, C. H. Dukes, assistant attorney-general representing the Georgia Public Service Commission, urged that the railroads' petition for an increase be denied.

Dukes based his argument on the point that the Georgia Public Service Commission has not been "given the

SAY THE DETROIT TIGERS 1935 WORLD CHAMPIONS

Here's the line-up on the smoking preference of the new world champions:

19 OUT OF 22 OF THE TIGERS SMOKE CAMELS

MICKEY COCHRANE (right): "The boys say Camels are milder!"

GERALD WALKER (right): "I'm positive Camels are made from finer tobaccos."

And JO-JO WHITE (below): "Camel is the cigarette that has real mildness."

Today Detroit glories in its first World Championship! These 1935 Tigers have punched out a story of courage and energy that stands among the masterpieces.

It takes the finest "edge" of athletic condition to win the baseball championship of the world. What do the Tigers say about smoking? Here's Mickey Cochrane, dynamic Tiger manager: "One thing the team agree on is their choice of cigarettes—Camels. 19 of the 22 regulars smoke Camels. The Tigers say they can smoke Camels all they want because Camels are so mild that they don't get their wind or upset their nerves."

How about taste? Let's see. Jo-Jo White says: "To me, Camels always taste better." "Camels have a fragrance and aroma all their own," declares Bill Rogell. "They taste better," Owen agrees. And Walker: "Camels never wear out their welcome with me!"

Camels had to be really mild to earn such fame! You'll like their mildness too. Camels never upset your nerves or tire your taste.

HERMAN CLIFTON (right): "I prefer Camels for steady smoking. They taste better."

And MARVIN OWEN (below): "Any time I'm feeling tired, I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

PETE FOX (right): "I can smoke as many Camels as I want and still stay in tiptop shape."

BILL ROGELL (left): "Camels never jangle my nerves. I smoke all I want. Camels taste better too."

Here's GOSLIN (above): Says "the Goose": "I switched to Camels long ago. Camels are milder."

STOLL FAMILY DETAILS HOW RANSOM WAS PAID

Witness Declares Elder Robinson Was Persuaded To Act as Agent.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—(P)—Members of the socially prominent and wealthy Stoll family, testifying at the trial today of Thomas H. Robinson Sr. and Mrs. Frances A. Robinson for the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, gave the first detailed account of the Louisville family's $50,000 ransom.

Mrs. Stoll and her aristocratic kinsmen, whose testimony was intended by the government to link the Robinsons, of a prominent Nashville, Tenn. family, with the bizarre abduction for which Thomas H. Robinson Jr. is hunted by G-men, were put on the cross-examination grill by defense counsel.

Conviction by the federal court jury of Robinson Sr., the father, and Mrs. Robinson, the wife of the alleged kidnaper, on a conspiracy charge could carry the death penalty in the court's discretion.

The kidnapping victim's father-in-law, O. C. Stoll, only company president; her husband, Berry V. Stoll, executive, and her uncle, Frederic M. Sackett, former United States ambassador to Germany, detailed to the jury their efforts to release her from an Indianapolis apartment where she was held prisoner by an allegedly mad kidnaper a year ago.

Mrs. Stoll related in direct testimony yesterday that the trial how she was snatched and snatched from her home here by a man she identified as Robinson Jr. She testified on cross-examination today she told federal agents after her release that Mrs. Robinson "had saved my life."

She added that she would have felt "grateful" to anybody who had rescued her from smothering in a closet of the apartment. She said, however, that she was unable to say deep in her heart she still cherished the same feeling of gratitude.

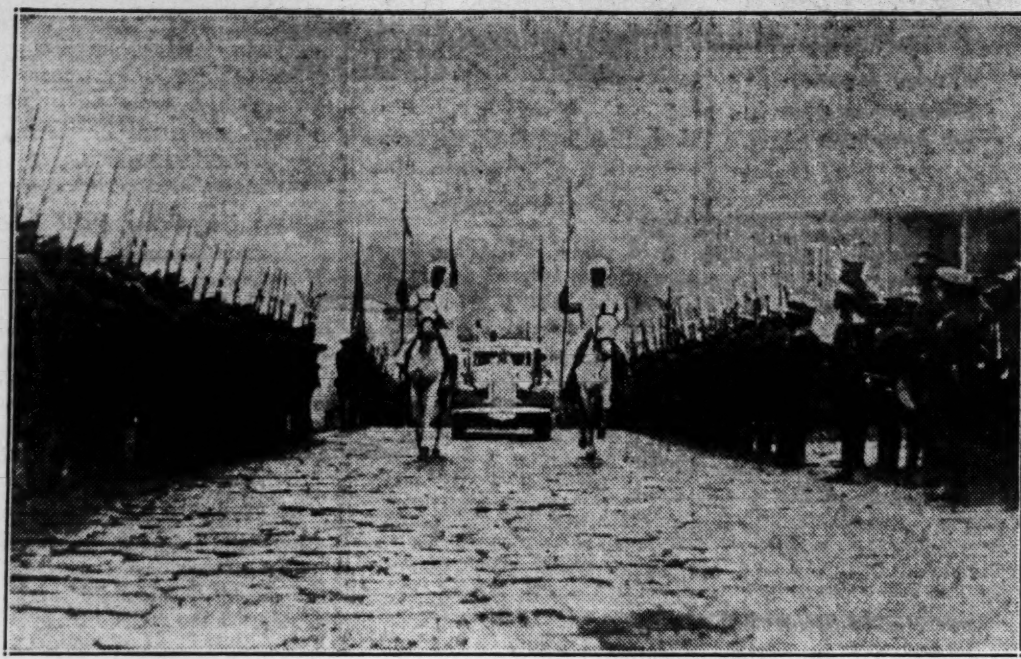

Mrs. Stoll said the closet was only two or three feet square with no "little air seeping in that when he was gone more than 15 minutes I wondered how long I could stand it."

Testimony of Mrs. Ann Woellett, former maid at the Stoll home and only eyewitness of the kidnapping, followed closely that of Mrs. Stoll as to how the kidnapping was effected.

Defense counsel drew from the elder Stoll a statement that Robinson Sr. refused to receive the $50,000 ransom except as agent of the Stolls. Stoll related that he and Sackett went to Nashville October 15, 1934, to persuade Robinson Sr. to "get the money to Indianapolis," Stoll said that Robinson Sr., on advice of counsel, refused to handle the money. Stoll agreed to a defense questioning that he had offered to put in writing the proposal for Robinson Sr. to act as agent.

Sackett, testifying in a feeble voice, gave substantially the same account as the elder Stoll except that he said he had no part in the proposal to make Robinson Sr. the agent.

The conditions of John Ambler, Philadelphia, and Miss Christine Rivers, of Jonesboro, Ga., both injured in the Stewart avenue crash, were said to be fair.

The conditions of Mrs. C. W. Marble and Elsie Maudlin were said to be good.

JEWISH IMMIGRATION TO PALESTINE HEAVY

JERUSALEM, Oct. 8.—(P)—(Palestine Agency)—The largest Jewish immigration in the history of Palestine was recorded for the first nine months of 1935, said a report today of the immigration department of the Jewish Agency for Palestine.

During September more than 6,000 Jews entered Palestine, which was more than 1,500 above the total recorded for August.

The record of 47,000 new settlers for the first nine months of 1935 was greater by 5,000 than the Jewish immigration all of 1934.

Mussolini Spurs War Measures; Haile Looks to League With Hope

Dispatches Report Strong Little Emperor Calmly Awaits Decision of Assembly on Way to Adduwa.

ROME, Oct. 9.—(Wednesday)—(P)—Dispatches from Italian correspondents at Asmara early today said a strong column of the second army corps left Adduwa yesterday in the direction of Asmara, and was last reported 15 kilometers (about nine miles) from that objective.

The correspondents indicated to their editors that by the time the dispatches reached Rome, Asmara, Holy city of Ethiopia, would be taken. (Asmara lies almost due west of Adduwa, about 20 miles distant.)

Other Asmara dispatches printed by morning papers said workmen building roads near the border of British and Ethiopia had been attacked by strong forces of natives.

The workmen were armed, however, and drove off their assailants, killing 20 and wounding numerous others, the dispatches stated.

Army headquarters at Adduwa reported, according to the dispatches, that an Ethiopian monolith had been sighted south of Adduwa, but disappeared when an Italian squadron from Asmara flew in pursuit.

Premier Mussolini went determinedly ahead with war measures at home today while the League of Nations prepared sanctions against him.

Five vessels sailed from Naples bearing 2,000 more soldiers and cargoes of munitions for the giant war machine in East Africa.

It was after a review of the 10,000 officers of the nation's 1,200,000 young fascists who soon will be in the army, that Mussolini said: "Temper your sons like steel."

During the review there were loosed beside Mussolini great flocks of doves symbolic of peace.

Reports from the front said officers were restraining the eagerness of troops to advance farther into Ethiopia. Artillery fire, however, was used to drive Ethiopians from a fastness in mountains behind Adduwa.

Preparations were made at home to defend coastal cities in event hostilities result from League actions. Widespread measures already have been adopted by the League of Nations of economic and financial sanctions.

Dependent Upon None. Italy, experts said, is dependent upon no nation for bread, lighting, transportation, water and fuel.

Air drills were in such cities as Naples, Genoa and Bari. Coast artillery and anti-aircraft units opened an intensive period of training.

Mussolini made an effort to show the "good side" of the Ethiopian war to his people and the world to offset Geneva's criticism.

"The sword and civilization march together," said official and semi-official descriptions of the four days of fighting in Africa and the two days of preparation for the next offensive.

Casualties were mentioned for the first time in today's communiqué. They were asserted to be very small to Italians but heavy among Ethiopians.

Till officials follow immediately behind the troops, the smoke clears they are already at work organizing villages and towns to go under normal conditions.

Ethiopian forces have made several efforts to recapture Adduwa since its fall, a government spokesman said, but they were consistently driven off. He said the city is being rapidly reorganized as an Italian stronghold.

No War on Civilians. The spokesman "officially denied" Italy is warring on civilians and said that specific orders given to Italian troops in this respect have been "scrupulously obeyed," so much so that many tribesmen have welcomed the Italian troops as a relief from the domination of their chieftains.

He was bitter regarding League of Nations developments, declaring "no tribunal in any civilized country in the world would have taken such arbitrary procedure as that taken at Geneva."

"The Italian public," he added, "feels that this is a manifestation of anti-Italianism. I might say anti-fascism." He said the League of Nations was a "very partial" and it was with great regret that the Italian public regarded Italy as a loss to understand it, but quite calm as it awaits further developments.

Whether these developments would force Italy to leave the League the spokesman would not indicate other than to recall Mussolini's recent declaration that Italy would continue to co-operate with the League until the League made it impossible.

Sporting Break. Italy feels that the United States at least is giving it a sporting break on the Ethiopian question and the League complications.

"Italy appreciates very much President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation," the spokesman said. "Italy's attitude toward such a policy as that declared by the United States government is, that it is what it asks of every one."

Even Roosevelt's declaration that a state of war exists between Italy and Ethiopia failed to lessen the Italian government's feeling of cordial appreciation. The spokesman passed over that issue with "I am unable to comment on the views taken of Italy's military activities elsewhere in the world, except to repeat that in Italy at least we regard the campaign of our African army as a military operation for the protection of our colonies."

He added: "Ethiopia never wanted war and doesn't want it now. But duty orders us today to defend the soil which Italy has violated."

world, except to repeat that in Italy at least we regard the campaign of our African army as a military operation for the protection of our colonies."

LEAGUE BAN AIDS U. S., SAYS ITALIAN ENVOY

Cotton, Coal and Copper Exports Will Gain, Embassy Official Predicts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(P)—Romolo Angelone, commercial attaché of the Italian embassy, said tonight "any threatened economic measures" taken against Italy by the League of Nations would give the United States an opportunity to gain a "more secure foothold" in the Italian market.

Angelone, who is in a general statement, said that Italy is better prepared than at any time in her history to successfully combat any economic campaign that may be waged against her.

"Repercussions from any threatened economic measures against Italy will be negligible," he said in a prepared statement, "Italy is better prepared than at any time in her history to successfully combat any economic campaign that may be waged against her."

During an interview, Angelone digressed from his prepared statement to add that he saw an "opportunity for the United States to double its market."

Science of Western Powers Needed To Remove 4 Scourges in Ethiopia

Stallings Finds Typhus as Common as Whooping Cough Among Natives of African Empire Under Rule of Emperor Haile Selassie.

By LAURENCE STALLINGS.
HARAR, Oct. 8.—Regardless of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, only the science of western powers may eliminate the four great scourges of Ethiopia, diseases which are deeply rooted in the populace.

Typhus is such a common disease as common as whooping cough—that any attempt to eradicate it by cleanliness is beyond the farthest conjecture, the native Ethiopian peasant being, in his general husbandry, as unsanitary a man as inhabits the globe.

Emperor Haile Selassie, who is a modernist, believed that typhus inoculation among 200,000 soldiers in a campaign against this disease. Accordingly, following successful inoculations for typhus by Polish doctors in China, he corresponded with laboratories at Lemberg and received the reply that three months were required to develop serum sufficient for 150 inoculations.

The carrier of typhus is a small, blackish louse, and contact with it inevitably finds the intruder endowed with several of these little creatures. They are so prevalent that yesterday, while the governor of this province was hearing a state case, the correspondent observed a council of irregulars in action in plucking a louse from a fellow statesman. He flicked the little pest on to the carpet with the utmost politeness, his colleague barely inclining his head in thanks.

Flea As Common. Natives dip their clothing in rancid butter, which sometimes is fairly effective as a defense against the lice, but, however, which does not carry typhus, are hardly considered pests. One correspondent fleas himself nightly, though the inconvenience caused by flea powder in a fresh bite is considerable. As David Harum observed, are good for a dog. They keep him from brooding on being a dog. In this way to end all war correspondents, it may be that fleas are equally providential.

It is the tick which doctors here dread most; for the hard-hearted creature carries it by bacteria for irregulars, or tick fever. Of tick fever, the Italo-Ethiopian scurries, tick fever is the most obstinate, and the widest spread. The tsetse fly of Lake Tana and the Nile country of Ethiopia is nothing so dreadful as this chap, who seems to lurk everywhere, fastening to boots in joyful anticipation of nightfall, when usually a favorite place of hiding is a sock.

Malaria is rated in third place. At least it flourishes in certain areas, radically defined. Quinine is hardly procurable here. At Diredda, 40 miles away, it is a staple article of diet, for the anopheles mosquito does his work nightly there. One of our group, having passed a night there, came down with 105 degree fever exactly eight days later, thus acquiring a quinine regimen in the shortest possible time in Africa. Even so, tick fever is more dreaded by doctors than either typhus or malaria.

The fourth of the great scourges is syphilis. Most doctors here incline to the belief that it is as old as antiquity here, and that the crusaders brought it to Europe from the Red sea country. It is nothing like the social disease of western man, but a deep-rooted, omnipresent malady. One sees scores of children with atrophy of the optic nerves in every gathering of natives. The marks of it are evident in every farm community. The natives define it, and give the disease about seven categories. They, too, treat it with crude preparations of red mercury, apparently being accustomed to it since antiquity.

Medical Attention Needed. It would not be safe to say that 50 years will find Ethiopia on the way to modern sanitation. Doctors decline to speculate, as the country provides no basis whatsoever for such conjectures. It can be said with certainty, however, that no part of the globe needs medical service more or provides such clinical opportunities for research. The great medical foundation of the Rockefeller, had this Standard Oil contract brought this research group into closer relationship with Ethiopian problems, could find no more suitable field for work.

Here is a country with virtually no classifications. This correspondent has tried in vain to learn the Ethiopian names for birds. But a small bird, whether a tanager or a blue-bird, is simply "small bird." So, too, with flowers, and with shrubs, unless these have a medicinal value. Animals are classified, because the hunters have seen to it that they are so.

One believes much will be done, once this crisis is past, by royal edict. A surprising number of Ethiopian barons have had the benefits of European education, and they are desperately sensitive to any disparagement of their country. It is possible, were supplies forthcoming, that medical clean-ups could be made with the speed and dispatch of the bolsheviks. It is hardly probable, however, as just now these feudal lords think mainly of modern life.

INCREASE IS REPORTED IN U. S. FIGHTING FORCES

Army Personnel Hiked 18,850 Men Since July 1; Navy Shows Gain.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(P)—Fighting forces of the United States are growing at the rate of more than 7,000 a month even as the nation seeks peace through its present-shattering neutrality policy.

Latest recruiting figures disclosed today that the army has added 18,850 men to its enlisted personnel since July 1, while the navy has taken on 2,527.

The increases were authorized by congress in its recent record peace-time appropriation of $341,248,204 for the army and $458,684,379 for the navy.

Coincidentally Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, a member of an appropriations subcommittee which has just inspected national defenses, said today he saw little prospect for any material reductions in next year's military budget.

The subcommittee agreed unanimously, Blanton said, "that the way to keep our country out of war is to let all foreign nations unmistakably understand that we are adequately prepared to repel any and all aggressions."

"Although I am for every economy possible, we can't hope for much reduction in the army and navy bills next year."

Blanton said others in the group felt as he did about possible reductions, adding "the Panama canal, Hawaii and our west coast from Alaska to San Diego will lack for nothing that is needed to make our country safe and secure."

War and navy department officials said they were carrying on a "selective" recruiting campaign to reach the army's enlisted strength gradually from 118,000 to 165,000, and the navy's strength from 82,500 to 95,500.

The army's program calls for 6,000 new men a month, and the navy's for 1,500.

GEORGIA CROPS HURT BY CHILLY WEATHER

Gainesville Reports 30 Degrees; Peppers, Vegetables Damaged.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Damage to pimento peppers, an important crop in some parts of the state, was reported in Bibb and Twiggs counties today as Georgia got its second day of chilly weather this season.

A killing frost was reported at Gainesville, in northeast Georgia, where the mercury dropped to 30 degrees this morning slightly above yesterday's minimum. Cornelia also reported frost yesterday and this morning.

The State Bureau of Markets in Atlanta said such crops as beans, butter beans, tomatoes and other tender vegetables would be killed by such a frost in Gainesville, but that hardier plants such as cabbage, onions and greens would not suffer.

Reports here said most sweet potato vines in Twiggs and Bibb counties had been killed by the frost. If the entire vines were killed, this would mean that the potatoes would have to be dug at once, to keep them from sprouting. The temperature dropped to 39 here this morning.

Valdosta reported a low of 50 overnight, Moultrie 46, Athens 35.

Frost was not reported at Athens, but a heavy frost was reported at Rome, in northwest Georgia, where the mercury fell to a low of 33.

Light frosts were reported at Toccoa, where the mercury reached a low of 35, at Newnan 35, Atlanta 36 and Chattanooga 38.

Columbus had a low of 41, Savannah 40, Thomasville 48, and Augusta 42.

HOT MAYOR'S RACE ENDS AT LA GRANGE

LAGRANGE, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—A city democratic primary election will be held tomorrow, with Dr. R. S. O'Neal, mayor, and City Councilman W. F. Jarrell facing opposition.

Mayor O'Neal is opposed by Elmer B. Crim, attorney; Jarrell's opponent is Homer Harper.

City Councilmen Richard Hutchinson Sr. and Sig Owen are unpopular for renomination. The democratic nomination is tantamount to election.

A heated race is being conducted by both candidates for mayor, downtown headquarters being operated by Mayor O'Neal.

Final appeals to the voters were made today.

LANE DRUG STORES
Always the Best

Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchial Irritations

How To Best Treat Them For Prompt Relief

Coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations are not only symptoms of existing troubles, but vanguards of more serious conditions to follow unless promptly and effectively treated. There are five well-known and ethically practiced approaches to relief which, when applied separately, produce only limited results, but when combined, constitute a much more complete and favorable treatment. These five methods are:

1. Spreading a protective syrupy film over the throat membrane.

2. Reaching the congested membrane in vapor form.

3. Softening, loosening and aiding nature to expel germ-laden phlegm.

4. Aiding nature to release its working forces by inciting artificial laxation.

5. Attacking the seat of the trouble from the inside, through the stomach.

Practice No. 1, to simply coat the throat membranes with syrup of white pine compound with licorice and wild cherry, ordinary hard candy, etc., you produce a temporary local palliative effect, without benefit to the system.

As to No. 2, menthol is the most popular agency used in inhalation treatments. These volatile crystals vaporize at low temperature, and undoubtedly is of benefit to the extent to which it effectively reaches the affected areas.

No. 3 is good as it is most desirable to expel germ-laden phlegm, but this method becomes of only partial value unless additional treatment is given to aid nature in causing a cessation of further phlegm accumulation, otherwise you go through a long-drawn-out process of recovery.

No. 4 represents a universally accepted need in the treatment of these conditions. Your doctor always cautions you to "keep your bowels open," and cascara seems to be the favorite laxative; and yet, laxation alone cannot be depended upon as a sufficient treatment.

So, the nearest approach to a prompt cold and cough relief is in No. 5—attacking the seat of the trouble from the inside—through the stomach, and here is how that is accomplished. Of course, we all know that we are constantly breathing many varieties of germs, and a healthy system is usually able to successfully combat them. We also know that it is a mistake to use remedies containing narcotics or opiates which merely deaden the nerves, producing temporary coughing relief, because they put an added strain on the heart, and, in many instances, actually delay recovery.

Now then, if you have a chest cold, cough or bronchial irritation due to a common cold, it means that the delicate tissue in your throat, lungs, bronchi or chest is inflamed and irritated—a veritable breeding place for germs—rendering the whole system more vulnerable to serious attack. Of all the remedies under class 5, Creomulsion is, we think, the most composite treatment, because, in addition to licorice as an expectorant, the volatile menthol crystals, wild cherry, licorice root and oil of mullein, syrup of white pine compound with tar for soothing and cascara for gentle laxation. Creomulsion contains genuine Beechwood Creosote, thus giving the patient all five of these well known treatments in one. All of these therapeutically recognized ingredients, especially Beechwood Creosote, are so well proportioned to each other that in Creomulsion that, when taken into the stomach, this composite treatment of five helps in one (without narcotics or opiates) brings prompt relief and rapid recovery.

Creomulsion is pleasant to take and will not upset the stomach. Phone your druggist for a bottle of Creomulsion now, use as directed, and if you do not think it the most satisfactory treatment you have ever used, this same druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money.

COLORFUL JURIST HOLDS N. O. COURT

Judge Barrett Presides at Trial of Huey Long Associate.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—A Georgia jurist who has the faculty of cutting down waste motion at trials over which he presides was in New Orleans today for the trial of Abe Shushan, political associate of the late Senator Huey P. Long.

The judge is William H. Barrett, veteran chief of the southern district of the United States court in Georgia.

Folk in the district know two William Barretts—one the stately, dignified presiding officer of the court; the other Bill Barrett, friend to everybody in the city, a man who plays a fair game of golf and a good game of bridge, and is an excellent story teller.

Nearing 70 years of age, judicial in his bearing, the judge may appear a formidable person as he sits on the high dais in his armchair, a black robe draped over his shoulders, but his record does not indicate any harshness in his attitude toward the lawbreaker.

His sentences are usually short—but they are served. The longest sentence he ever pronounced was 10 years. That was given recently to a man who shot at a federal officer.

The judge lives simply and leisurely. He is a retired operator that only his rugged vitality enabled him to survive.

He has become guardian for enough railroads to make a system of their own, and is an expert in this field. He was a railroad attorney before he went on the bench.

FIRST SOUND OF 'DIXIE' STIRS GRAY VETERANS

Judge Ogden Persons To Address Confederates at Adel Today.

ADEL, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Brought to their feet by the opening bars of "Dixie," the aged survivors of Georgia's once powerful Confederate army sounded the Rebel yell here today in the opening session of their annual state reunion.

Streets were decorated with the Confederate and United States flags as the veterans rode from homes to which they were assigned to the Baptist church to open their reunion.

Feeble though they were, the veterans rose to their feet and cheered when "Dixie" was played. Sons of the veterans, also attending the reunion, cheered the appeal.

Major J. J. Parrish and Adel civic leaders welcomed the veterans as the convention got under way. Leaders of Sparks, near-by, joined in the welcome.

General J. P. Hardy, of Barnesville, commander of the Georgia division, spoke briefly to his comrades, bade them the duties of the chair to McWhorter Milner, of Atlanta, commander of the Georgia division of Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Adel is the smallest city in which the state reunion ever has been held. Sparks is co-operating in housing and entertaining the veterans.

Following the mayor's address, Rev. J. H. Stanford, pastor, welcomed the visitors to the Baptist church, where today's sessions were held.

Welcome Addresses.

Welcoming addresses also were made by Mrs. J. E. Pitts, of the local convention committee; J. C. Thomas, E. V. Wheeler, H. R. McKinnon, Paul Shaw and W. T. Shytle.

A. S. Perry, of Cuthbert, judge advocate of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, responded on behalf of the veterans.

Robert Avery, of Atlanta, of the Sons organization, told the veterans about the general convention of Confederate veterans held recently in Amarillo, Texas.

At noon a luncheon was served the veterans, their escorts and other convention visitors, on the lawn of the Baptist church. The weather was balmy and clear.

Judge Ogden Persons, of Forsyth, will be the chief speaker at tomorrow's session.

The convention will continue through Thursday morning. About 40 veterans are attending.

In the absence of Miss Lillian Henderson, secretary of Atlanta, B. H. Hardy, of Barnesville, was elected temporary secretary of the reunion.

A motorcade carried the veterans on a tour of this section late today.

A pageant depicting the old and the new south was presented tonight. The pageant was written by Rev. W. H. Ketchum, of the Methodist church here, and Mrs. Ketchum.

The men are charged in the indictment returned today with "showing disrespect" and "obstructing justice" in connection with the shooting at Internal Revenue Inspector Thomas A. Pruitt, as he was "attempting to seize 40 gallons of liquor" near Conyers, Ga.

TALMADGE LOSES COTTON TAX FIGHT

Federal Judge Rules Against Attempt To Void Excess Levy.

ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 8.—(UP)—Governor Talmadge today was loser in the first round of his attempt to invalidate the 6 cents a pound tax on cotton produced in excess of the Bankhead crop allotments.

Federal Judge Bascom Deaver ruled United States district attorneys cannot be enjoined from prosecuting farmers for failure to pay the gin tax.

The ruling was handed down on a petition for an amendment, filed by Barry Wright, Talmadge's attorney.

Judge Deaver did not rule on constitutionality of the Bankhead act itself.

The amendment had sought an injunction to restrain district attorneys in Georgia from instituting criminal proceedings against those attacking the gin tax. The judge intimated such an injunction would not provide full protection, since the district attorneys would have to prosecute if ordered to do so by Washington.

ASHBURN WOMAN HURT IN GRIFFIN ACCIDENT

GRIFFIN, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Injured in a motor-truck collision on the Griffin-Hampton road last night, a young woman, listed at Strickland Memorial hospital as Miss Helix Ross, of Ashburn, was reported recovering today.

ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Charles C. Rife, of Atlanta, was named president today of the Georgia State Veterinary Association, and Brunswick was selected for the next meeting place.

Dr. Rife, for years an outstanding practitioner in Atlanta, succeeds Dr. W. D. Martin, of Albany.

Dr. J. E. Severin, of Atlanta, was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and Dr. R. D. Carr, of Thomasville, was elected vice president.

The date for the next meeting will be set later, but it probably will be held some time between June 15 and July 15, 1936.

The convention adjourned after the elections.

Dr. Rife was one of the chief speakers at today's session. He said the status of the profession had improved in recent years and that legal requirements for licensing of veterinarians had not kept step with the elevation of the standards by the practitioners.

He advocated more rigid requirements for licensing of doctors of veterinary medicine.

Other speakers on the program included Dr. Joe L. Johnson, of Sylvestra, and Dr. B. E. Carlisle, of Camilla.

SANITY TEST STAY FOR HONEA GIVEN

Prison Commission Approves 30-Day Respite to Condemned Slayer.

The third case was that of Leander Smith, of Savannah, sentenced to be executed for the murder of Winton Rowland.

The application of George McRae, condemned Canton slayer, is to be heard Thursday.

Chairman E. L. Rainey, of the prison commission, who presided over the hearings yesterday, said that the board's recommendations on all of the cases would be placed before the Governor in ample time for him to consider them before the execution dates of the four men. Riley was granted a 30-day respite last month.

Judge Orders Special Term for Friday to Investigate Whippings.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 8.—Judge Ben T. Gaillard Jr., of the northeastern superior court circuit, this afternoon signed an order convening a special session of the Hall county grand jury at Gainesville at 10 o'clock Friday morning to investigate the whipping of two citizens at Chicopee, near-by mill village, one on August 14 and one October 5.

John Snead, employed prior to August 14 as "oleo" man" at the Chicopee Manufacturing Company, was flogged on August 14, during labor trouble at the mill, and M. T. Grimes, general manager of the huge textile plant and prominent Gainesville citizen, was kidnapped and whipped near the mill last Saturday night.

its firm conviction that his nomination and re-election is assured. Senator George announced that the delegation had adopted a resolution directing Senator Russell, Mr. Cooke and himself to call on President Roosevelt in Washington on October 21 when the chief executive returns from his western trip and decide with him the exact date and hour of his Atlanta speech. The senator explained that these details were being left to the President to decide for himself and that Mr. Roosevelt had informed the delegation he would be ready to arrange them on his return to Washington, which is scheduled for October 20.

It was understood the Governor's part in the program, if any, was not discussed at the meeting, that the delegation decided from the outset to treat all state officials alike and extend them invitations to sit on the stage immediately behind the speaker's platform.

Governor Included.

Senator George was asked directly if the invitations would include the Governor, an outspoken critic of the President and the national administration and he replied that they would. Mr. Cooke announced that he would set up needed committees within a few days and he hoped to get all of them working smoothly far enough in advance of the date of the President's visit.

Senator George announced the delegation had accepted with thanks the offer of assistance from a special committee of the general assembly and from Major George Van Horn Moseley, the army fourth corps area commander, as well as thanking Mayor Key for his interest and work.

The house committee, headed by Representative Marion Allen of Baldwin county, had held a special meeting prior to the congressional delegation's session and called on the congressmen in a body. Mayor Key sat in on the session and General Moseley's offer was presented by letter.

Army Services Accepted.

General Moseley offered the services of the officers and enlisted personnel under his command and the offer was readily accepted. It was pointed out that the army was in complete control of the Yorktown celebration several years ago and handled 50,000 motor cars without a single accident.

"We are happy to accept the offer of General Moseley," Senator George said. "It will help us solve one of our biggest problems. That is the traffic situation. Of course we are deeply grateful to Mayor Key for his splendid co-operation but we feel there will be so many thousands here for the celebration that a limited police force could not attempt to cope with the situation."

Senator George said the delegation also voiced its approval of the offer from the general assembly. The delegation wants it made known that it appreciates the assistance offered by the general assembly and also the action of the speaker of the house, E. D. Rivers, in calling the delegation together so its views could be made known," the senator said. "Mr. Cooke, our general chairman, will call on the assembly to do whatever it can to aid the celebration."

Assembly Committee Meets.

The general assembly committee which called on the delegation had its meeting at the Henry Grady hotel. All 10 members of the house as well as two of the five members of the senate, appointed by Speaker Rivers, were in attendance.

They included in addition to Chairman Allen, Vice Chairman Roy V. Harris, of Richmond county; Secretary S. Marvin Griffin, of Decatur county; Representative John B. Spivey, of Emanuel county; Representative Theo Coleman, of Lowndes county; Representative Duke Davis, of Troup county; Representative J. R. Thompson, of Muscogee county; Representative Carl Guess, of DeKalb county; Representative Herman Watson, of Paulding county, and Representative J. Virlyn Booth, of Barrow county, and Senators J. M. Simmons, of Bainbridge, and P. M. Lancaster, of Sylvester. Senator H. Dixon Smith, of Columbus, telegraphed he was unable to attend. Others on the committee but not present were Senator W. W. Larsen Jr., of Dublin, and Senator J. Johnston, of Woodstock. Speaker Rivers was not present.

Chairman Allen, in a short address at the organization of his committee, without naming the Governor, attacked him and Chairman Hugh Howell, of the house, who is not even a member of the democratic state executive committee.

"I am glad to see such a full membership of the committee," he said. "We are here only to do what we can to aid the congressional delegation in entertaining the great leader of our country. And I am sorry to say there are some who are not even in the state on this great day but are roaming up in the north country where they are proving themselves only aids to the republican party."

Committee Resolution. The resolution adopted by the Allen committee and later presented to the delegation follows:

"Whereas, at the call of the speaker of the house of representatives of the state of Georgia, the house met in an unofficial session at the Henry Grady hotel in the city of Atlanta on the 30th day of September, 1935, for the purpose of tendering their services to the congressional delegation from the President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, upon his visit to Georgia during Thanksgiving week, and

"Whereas, at said meeting a resolution was unanimously adopted authorizing and empowering the speaker of the house to appoint a committee to aid the congressional delegation in their plans for a mammoth welcome to the President of the United States during the period of an economic crisis in the affairs of the people of the nation, and

"Whereas, at said meeting 11 members of the senate met with the members of the house and requested to be included on said committee, and

"Whereas, the speaker of the house, at their request, has appointed a committee on the part of said senate members, consisting of five, and

"Whereas, said committee appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives, having met in the city of Atlanta, on this, the 8th day of October, 1935, at the call of the chairman, Marion H. Allen, for the purpose of organizing and carrying out the mandate of the meeting of the members of the house and senate held in Atlanta on the 30th day of September, 1935.

Tender Services.

"Therefore, be it resolved, by the members of said committee, that we tender our services to the congressional delegation meeting in the city of Atlanta today, for any service which they may designate to be performed and on the part of the members of the house and the members of the senate, attending the meeting of the 30th day of September, 1935, pledge our aid in giving the President of the United States, upon his return to his Georgia home in November, the greatest welcome that he has ever had upon any occasion, and to make such arrangements as may be necessary for the people of Georgia to be given an opportunity to properly express to the great democratic chief of state the gratitude and appreciation of the people of Georgia for his services as one of the greatest leaders of humanity of all time."

All the state's congressmen were present except Representative E. E. Cox, of Camilla, who had a previous engagement to make a speech, and Representative E. B. Cuthbert, of Cuthbert, who had informed Senator George he would attend.

Those in attendance included Representative Hugh Peterson, of Alley; Representative Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville; Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta; Representative Emmett Owen, of Griffin; Representative Frank Wheelchell, of Gainesville; Representative Malcolm C. Tarver, of Dalton; Representative Braswell Dean, of Alma; and Representative Paul Brown, of Elberton.

Major Clark Howell Jr., of The Constitution, and John A. Brice, of the Journal, as well as Edgar Dunlap, of Gainesville, attorney for the Atlanta agency of the RFC, also sat in on the meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Cooke made the following telegram from Senate President Charles D. Redwine, of Fayetteville, which was referred to him by Senators George and Russell, to whom it was addressed:

"I am hereby tendering my services personally and officially to be used in whatever capacity that may be desired in the reception to be given President Roosevelt when he comes to Georgia. Please be assured that the entire membership of the senate desires to be of every possible service in making his reception a grand success."

Mr. Cooke said Senators Russell and George had telegraphed Redwine thanking him for his offer of assistance and made public a letter in which he joined in that thanks.

Following the lead of city council in voting a public holiday for Atlanta on Roosevelt Day, the Atlanta Board of Education approved a resolution providing for a holiday in all of the city schools.

The resolution was sponsored by W. W. Matthews, board member from the fourth ward.

It follows:

"Whereas, assembled thousands from all over the state of Georgia are to hear the President in person and pay homage to him because of his sincere efforts in behalf of our country and because of his personal integrity, and

"Whereas, the children in school are the future citizens of our commonwealth and good citizenship is one of the outstanding objectives of a modern education program, therefore

"Be it resolved that the Board of Education of the city of Atlanta hereby convey its unqualified commendation to those people and organizations who are making possible this expression of gratitude and honor to our beloved President, and hereby declare a holiday in all public schools of the city upon the day that he is to be designated for the presidential address and reception, in the event the day so designated is a regular school day."

Douglas Poole Married; Met Bride in Hospital

Five years ago Douglas Poole, patrolman No. 2 of Detective Chief A. Lamar Poole, met Miss Anne Gaulling, registered nurse at Georgia Baptist hospital, where he had been taken for treatment of injuries received in the line of duty. A romance followed.

Last night it culminated with the marriage of the couple at the home of Harry G. Poole on Cascade road. Present were Mayor Key, Chief Poole and Miss LaRue Wilson, the Atlanta bride of 1933, who will herself become a bride in a few days; Paul Carpenter, prominent attorney, and numerous other friends.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Louis D. Newton. The couple will be at their home at 933 Euclid avenue.

Miss Gaulling is the daughter of Mrs. E. G. Gaulling, of Crawford, and is a sister of Mrs. Opal G. Morris and Mrs. Troy Cox, of Atlanta. The bride is the daughter of the late Jimmy Proctor, of Atlanta, on October 27.

Florida Sale of Road for Taxes Opposed Before Federal Court

The attempt of J. M. Lee, Florida comptroller, to sell the property of the Georgia, Florida & Alabama railroad in Florida for approximately $55,000 in taxes reached the circuit court of appeals here yesterday.

Attorneys for Lee and for P. T. Anderson and Philip Welner, receivers of the line, narrowed their arguments before the three-judge court to whether Judge Bascom S. Deaver, of the middle Georgia district, had jurisdiction to enjoin Lee from selling the property after Lee had levied on it through the sheriff of Leon county, Florida.

J. Velma Keen and H. E. Carter, assistant attorneys-general of Florida, argued the property is now in the hands of ancillary receivers of the Seaboard Air Line, appointed by Judge Alexander Ackerman, of the southern district of Florida.

Keen explained Judge Ackerman had modified a previous injunction order against Lee by allowing him to levy on the G. F. & A. property in the state.

Only Lease on Property. To this, Orville A. Park, Macon attorney representing Anderson and Welner, replied the Seaboard receivers had never held "more than a lease on the property."

His clients, he added, owned the title to the road and no request has ever been made of Judge Deaver's court under which they were appointed to pay the taxes.

"If the Florida comptroller is allowed to sell the road," he said, "a property worth five million dollars will be half gone."

The G. F. & A., which runs from Richland, Ga., to Carrabelle, Fla., Park described as "the natural gate-

NRA itself meanwhile announced it had received proposed labor agreements by seven industries from the Federal Trade Commission. Such agreements, entirely voluntary in character, may be handled by NRA under the congressional resolution which extended the organization.

The seven industries were: Wholesale tobacco manufacturing; asbestos manufacturing; asphalt shingle and roofing manufacturing; solid braided cord, rope and twine wool, ladies' handbag and fertilizer.

BRUNO APPEAL UP

Court of Errors, Considering Kidnaping Case, Meets

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The court of errors and appeals, which is considering the appeal of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for a new trial, will meet tomorrow.

The court is expected to decide some of the 106 cases on the May term calendar, of which Hauptmann's is No. 99, but there was no indication the Hauptmann case would be among them.

A vote of a majority of the 13 members who heard the case will be necessary to uphold the conviction.

As the time for a decision nears, Hauptmann, convicted of killing the Lindbergh baby, was reported by his wife, Anna, to be confident he would receive a new trial.

Mrs. Hauptmann, who visited the prisoner today at the death house in state prison, said Hauptmann would be ready to go to the gallows every day how the state railroad him to prison.

She said her husband was depressed when he realized last Thursday will be their 10th wedding anniversary.

TREE FELL BY FATHER KILLS TENNESSEE GIRL

ETOWAH, Tenn., Oct. 8.—(AP)—A tree felled by the axe of her father apparently caused the death of a five-year-old girl here.

The child, little Maxine Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Payne, was missing yesterday afternoon. But her father believed she had gone with her mother to a funeral and her mother thought she was with her father.

Last night the family gathered at the supper table but the child was absent. Alarmed they started a search for her. A short time later her crushed body was found beneath the fallen tree which he (the father) had cut down earlier in the day.

FARM PROBLEM SEEN AS REPUBLICAN ISSUE

Hoover To Remain Silent Until Supreme Court Rules on AAA Legality.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover regards the farm problem as a prime potential issue of the 1936 campaign but will offer no suggestions for a republican plank until the fate of the AAA has been settled, members of his traveling party said today.

Mr. Hoover would not comment on public affairs during brief stopovers between trains en route to New York from his California home. Praising the weather, he indicated his Saturday night trip to New York was for an assailing government spending would be his only political statement for the time being.

But intimates of the former executive said that "the chief," as they call Mr. Hoover, has been considering the farm question for some time. They said his course is laid to assist in the development of issues and tender as titular chief of the G. O. P. what advice he believes might be salutary for his party. The Oakland speech, they said, was on an "issue" already developed.

As others reach that stage, Mr. Hoover will speak out, they added. As to the farm issue, that time will not come, members of his party said, until the supreme court has ruled on pending AAA cases, it is the former chief executive's idea, they said, that the government should have a public agricultural plank before that time would be premature.

NEW COSMETICS ADDED BY STORE

Stage-Screen Makeup Now Available at Regenstein's Peachtree Store.

Stage-screen makeup, identical with the preparation used by motion picture stars in technical films and photographs which appear neither pallid nor overpainted, have been added to the cosmetics line of Elizabeth Arden and are available at Atlanta's Regenstein's Peachtree store, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Page Rees, Arden consultant.

The new stage-screen makeup is said to be of a light and porous texture, permitting natural breathing of the skin. The conventional grease paint, according to Mrs. Page Rees, sinks into the skin while the foundation for Miss Arden's makeup stays on the surface. The base will not creak or dry the skin.

It is said to be impossible to perspire through the Arden makeup. The preparation is expected to be a boon for swimmers as it is said to be absolutely waterproof.

PEIPING, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Twenty-eight missionaries, including 14 Americans, tomorrow are to begin a hazardous 600-mile Yellow river flight from Chinese communists.

DAVIS, JOHNSON RUN RAMPANT OVER JACKETS

Butler, Raine and Hackett Star for Gray Devils at Flats.

By Jack Troy.

Bob Davis and Bert Johnson, Kentucky's great backs, ran wild against the Tech varsity in a preview yesterday at the Rose Bowl field.

Davis, impersonated by John Raine, and Johnson, considered so good that Doyle Hackett and Roger Hackett were used alternately to blast into the line and charged around the ends so effectively that Coach Alexander actually took the varsity far up the field away from the eyes of alumni.

It was a very sad showing indeed. And the mortification of the head man at the Flats was so great that he did not wish to allow the rout to continue in the sight of hopeful followers.

Now, the Jackets did look good in some spots. But it was more of an offense. When the Gray Devils, using Kentucky plays taught them by Dave Wilcox and Roy MacArthur, took the ball, "Davis" and "Johnson" enjoyed something of a field day.

There were a couple of plays that preceded the withdrawal of the Jackets into comparative privacy.

FACES WERE RED.

Doyle Butler threw a fine pass that connected for a long gain in the end zone. Butler back in short punt formation, kicked that football 55 yards over the goal line on the carry. It took the varsity completely by surprise.

Such things as this made it necessary for Coach Alex to hurry his boys out of the sight of man and give them some private and individual attention.

Oscar Thompson was given a lot of work at left end on the varsity combination yesterday. He paired with Hoot Gibson. Then later, also Jordan and Morgan were used together with the second-string eleven.

ANOTHER TODAY.

There will be another scrimmage today. Tech needs it. Coach Alex will shoot "Davis" and "Johnson" back in there at the varsity. And he hopes today's showing will hold some improvement.

"I am glad we weren't playing against the real Davis and Johnson today," Coach Alex said after the drill. "If we had, there would not have been much of a contest."

STRIFE READY.

It appears that Billy Street, who is something of a plunger, will be called upon for extra duty Saturday. Then, too, Jack Nixon, sophomore guard, is improving greatly under Mack Thayer's excellent coaching.

Tech will drill hard for the rest of the week, scrimmaging today and perhaps holding another short one on Thursday. The team leaves early Friday morning for Lexington. There are no injuries. Dr. Compton has done some splendid work with the injured players so far this season.

Wildcats Impressive In Scrimmage.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 8.—(AP)—After spending a half an hour rehearsing their plays, the varsity of the University of Kentucky Wildcats scrimmaged the freshmen here this afternoon, and turned in another impressive performance.

The Wildcats will open their Southeastern conference schedule here Saturday in a game with the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets and Wayne is pushing the team to the utmost in hopes of a victory.

Two varsity teams scrimmaged simultaneously against two picked varsity squads. Bert Johnson and Bob Davis, backfield axes of the Wildcats, scored several touchdowns. They clicked particularly well together on forward and lateral pass plays.

Wayne shifted his backfield in the first team today, using Dick Robinson, Richmond youth, in McMillen's place at quarterback. The Kentucky coach did not say that this arrangement was permanent.

Sam Potter, guard, the only casualty of the Ohio State game, remained out of uniform today. He suffered an injury to his left knee.

BEREAN CLASS HONORS TEAM

Berean class, of the Gordon Street Baptist church, last night feasted its championship basketball team at the banquet hall.

More than 100 members of the class and their friends were there to cheer the team which added the sixth championship trophy in three years of basketball play. No other amateur team in the city can boast such a record.

The team, managed by W. V. Veno and captained by E. L. (Ginny) Brown, had been before the crowd and presented with sweaters, the gift of the class and their friends. Howell Conway made the presentation with a clever talk about the team.

GIFTS FOR TEAM.

Those receiving sweaters were: Cecil Stevens, Clyde Cannon, Jim Morris, Hoot Gibson, Roy Head, Gene McConnell, Bill Gibson, Massar, Pink Hornsby, Bob McLaughlin, E. L. Brown, Bill Coffey, Henry Alden, Ernest Youngblood, Bill Veno, E. L. Johnson and Charles Morris. The latter two are, respectively, the retiring and newly elected class presidents.

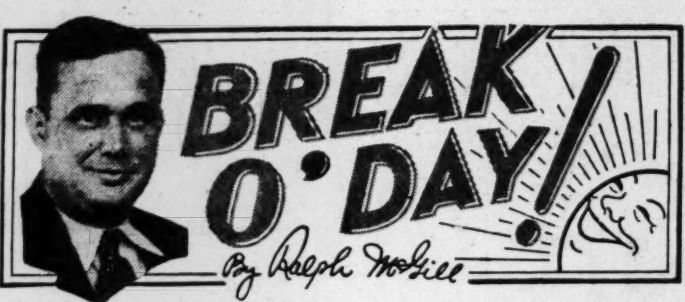

Hoot Gibson, who played first base for the team, is a star end at Georgia Tech and is rated as one of the best ends in southern football.

PROGRAM OF MUSIC.

A program of music featured the entertainment. Miss Ila Davis, accompanied at the piano by Arthur Neal, sang two numbers, which were warmly received. Guitar music, arranged by Cecil White, also was a splendid feature.

The Berean class of men is taught by Miss Dora Haynes. Her class is one of the most popular in Atlanta. It was an enthusiastic meeting. The ladies of the Sunday school served a chicken dinner which must be rated as one of the very prominent features of the evening.

Ralph McGill, sports editor of The Constitution, was the speaker.

Coach Thomas Develops New Plays To Be Used This Saturday.

Ducks and football are mixed up in a couple of stories. When Mike Donahue went to L. S. U. to coach some years ago, before the Baton Rouge institution was really organized for football, he found the squad lethargic and slow.

One afternoon Mike decided to instill some fighting spirit. He sat the squad down on a bench and he got out in front of them and he made himself an oration. He scolded them with the heat of his words; he upbraided them, he stung them and he lashed them with the fury of his words, seeking to arouse them.

He reached his peroration and paused for breath. As he paused he saw one of his back tackles look up; nudge the fellow next to him and heard him drawl, "Just look at all them ducks up there."

Mike missed apoplexy by an inch and gave up.

The next one concerns the Auburn-Vanderbilt game of last year. During the intermission a flock of ducks flew over the Vanderbilt stadium, circled a few times and then flew on south.

A few moments later a lone duck flew in and circled, as if puzzled.

In the stands a lone drunk, very concerned about it all, rose to his feet and pointed south!

"Hey," he yelled upward toward the duck, very solemn about it all, "Hey, they went that way!"

He gestured to the south. And the crowd roared as the duck wheeled and set out southward after his pals.

The drunk sat down, a look of contentment on his face. He had shown a stranger the road.

THE DARK HOSS AT ATHENS.

Those football writers who stepped out in early September and nominated Alabama, Tennessee and L. S. U. as the three best prospects in the Southeastern conference, have just one comfort.

Most of them brought in Georgia as the dark hoss and the team which might provide a lot of upsets.

That is a very comforting statement because it looks as if the Bulldogs might—if they have any luck at all—finish up as one of the best teams Georgia ever had.

If Harry Mehre and Vernon Smith can find a couple of good stand-up ends, heavy enough to dump interference or fight their way through it, this Georgia team will be about set.

Your faithful old reporter, in an early season survey, put down the Bulldogs' only problem as tackles and ends and there is no need to change it at this date. The tackles have developed very well indeed. The ends remain the problem.

Georgia has a good backfield set-up with lots of reserves and the line is playing well. The schedule enables them to move progressively forward into their more difficult games.

Alabama is not, of course, harmed by that tie with Howard. In fact, I think Frank Thomas is due for a fine salute for bringing his team along to crush Georgia Washington—something the British couldn't do. That Howard game likely was the tonic needed to start the Tuscaloosa Tornado on its way. The pre-season dopsters may yet be correct. Alabama will be tough.

L. S. U. is undefeated in the conference and so, for that is Tennessee. But Tennessee evidently isn't as yet organized. Their test is the Auburn game Saturday in Birmingham.

OUR GEORGIA BOYS.

Last spring, just before the Derby up in old Kaintucky, I talked in St. Louis with Mickey Cochran and Jo Jo White, the Detroit manager and the Georgia outfielder.

Cochran praised the College Park boy and said, half in fun and half in earnest, "We've got to teach him how to hit."

Jo Jo White, "The Tigah Man," grinned. "I'll hit," he said.

It was "The Tigah Man" from Georgia who drove in the winning run in the 11-inning game last Friday, the game that broke the Cubs' back in the World Series.

He is regarded as one of the "meanest men" in baseball, is The Tigah Man. He wants to be like Cobb on the bases and he has all the shortcuts and second basemen in the American league half afraid of him.

At any rate White is bringing back to Georgia more than $6,000 of World Series money.

And from the Cubs comes Hugh Casey with something over $4,000. Casey, the pride of Buckhead, didn't get into the series but he gets his share.

If the boys will hold onto it until they get home the city of Atlanta, Buckhead and College Park will see $10,000 in circulation. Or in the banks.

FIRST SINCE 1931.

The Detroit Tigers dropped the first game of the series. Yet went on to win.

Which is a bit unusual. Not since 1931 when the Cardinals dropped the first game to the Athletics and went on to win has a team won the series after losing that first contest.

In the long history of the series only nine times has a team lost the first game and gone on to capture the series.

So, the Tigers were making a bit of baseball history.

There was probably considerable moaning at the bars after that all-night celebration but it was, so far as Detroit was concerned, worth it.

OCTOBER AND TECH.

Tech's football players will not forget October, 1935. Beginning Saturday they meet Kentucky, Duke and North Carolina on successive Saturdays. The two Carolina schools must be met on their own fields.

That's all, and plenty, for October. And what about November?

The Jackets meet Vanderbilt's big, strong outfit in the first November test. And then comes Auburn, which last week beat Tulane.

Alabama follows Auburn and then comes Florida and Georgia is the final test. No one can accuse the Engineers of not taking on most of the tough ones. And out of that list of giants they may find one or two, maybe more, to topple. If Mr. Alexander's sophomores get going they can do some damage. The dean of Dixie coaches always does a swell job of teaching. This year he has a few boys who can retain.

And Mack Thayer is doing a magnificent job of line coaching. The Jackets may not win a lot of games, but it does look as if Mr. Alexander has a staff with which to work and the material is improving.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Oct. 8.—(AP)—New strategy is being cooked up here for Mississippi State's maroon eleven Saturday by Coach Frank Thomas and his assistants, but Alabama's Crimson Tide defense will be the same—hard tackling and alert following of the ball.

Obviously pleased with the reversal in form his team showed against the Colonials of George Washington last Saturday, Coach Thomas said four or five new plays were being perfected this week that may be tried out against the Maroons.

"We are working a little with laterals," he said, "as we had a little luck with them last Saturday."

Stress is being laid this week on defense in a movement to check the Maroon attack which every indication points to being the strongest in several years.

HARD CONTEST.

"We are going to have a tough time with the Maroons, and we know it," said Thomas as he mapped his plans for workouts today. "They have a good team, one that must be watched, and they are all pepped up."

The Alabama squad as a whole is in good condition, and Riley Smith, keystone of the attack, is rapidly reaching top form.

"Smith tired badly last Saturday, after his two-week layoff, so he is doing a lot of running to develop his wind this week," Thomas said. "He'll be in good shape by Saturday, barring accidents."

The Alabama coach had a good word for the line that threw back every Colonial assault last week, and opened up for their own backs.

TACKLES IMPROVED.

"The tackles looked a lot better," he said, "in fact, our whole team was improved, and we now have a pretty good ball club."

The program this week, Coach Thomas said, is one of developing defensive strategy more than offensive play, and, of course, he added, "there will be plenty of work on blocking and tackling."

Not since 1914 have the Maroons won from Alabama, and in the past five games, the Mississippi States have not crossed the Crimson goal line.

This year—the Maroons believe they have a chance. Mississippi State defeated Howard, the team that tied Alabama, by two touchdowns, and they gave Vanderbilt's big Commodore eleven a good afternoon's work.

Dope as dope may go enhances Maroon opportunities, and Alabama is taking no chances.

Maryland Works For Tarheel Test.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The University of Maryland got down to hard work today in preparation for its Southern conference clash with the Tar Heels of North Carolina eleven this weekend.

When dusk arrived the Tarps still were scrimmaging and slinging all sorts of passes through the air. Guckerson did most of the hurting, and the other three varsity backs, Ellinger, Stonebraker and Sachs, also passed at times.

Maryland apparently is preparing to "shoot the works" against the Tarheels in the Baltimore stadium next Saturday. A brief drill against North Carolina formations opened today's session. The Tarps were polishing up their varied offensive.

Vols Lose Stars For Auburn Game.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Coach Bill Britton said today that Captain Toby Palmer, halfback, and Kenneth Needham, guard, may not start Tennessee's game with Auburn in Birmingham Saturday.

Palmer suffered a foot injury in the North Carolina game last week, while Needham is being bothered with sprains. Coach Britton may replace Needham, while Derryberry may start instead of Palmer, (teaming up with Phil Dickens).

Krouse, who shares quarterbacking duties with Moss, is still out with injuries and will be unavailable before the Alabama game, Britton said.

The squad went through a hard scrimmage today.

Almond, Ruff Top East Point Card

Son Almond and Tiny Ruff, popular Atlanta wrestlers, will headline the regular weekly wrestling card Thursday night at the East Point city auditorium. It will be a no-limit, best two-out-of-three-falls match.

In the semi-final, Ambrose Cole of Birmingham, meets Dick Burford of Gainesville, in a one-hour, best-two-out-of-three-falls match.

Almond and Ruff will headline the program in a 30-minute one-fall preliminary.

NAME TROUBLE.

MANKATO, Minn.—Cheer leaders falter and finally give up on this one. So Ben Rolanjes, Loyola High school halfback, hears his name shortened to "Solie" when the rooters cut loose.

L. S. U. Tigers Practice Here

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Louisiana State University football team headed for New York tonight for its battle with Manhattan College Saturday on Ebbets field in Brooklyn.

A squad of 34 players were selected by Coach Bernie Moore to make the trip, the first and longest of the season for the Tigers and the third invasion of the east by L. S. U. in five years.

The squad will stop in Atlanta tomorrow at 11:15 a. m. for a workout at the Georgia Tech bowl, and will exercise again at Griffith stadium in Washington, arriving in New York at 7 p. m. Thursday.

The Tiger gridlers are in good shape except for injuries to Shelby Calhoun and Marvin Stewart, first-string tackle and center, respectively, who may not get into play.

Happy Days Are Here Again

Here are probably the two happiest fellows in the world. They're none other than "Goose" Goslin (left) and Mickey Cochran, manager of the world champion Detroit Tigers. They are shown as they congratulated each other on the Tigers' victory over the Chicago Cubs in the sixth and deciding game of the world series Monday. The Tigers won the game in the ninth inning.

when the "Goose" slapped a single that scored Mickey with the winning run, giving the Tigers the game, 4-3. It was Detroit's first world championship and the town went wild after the game. The players, especially the "Goose," had to be guarded by the cops to keep the wild fans from tearing them apart for souvenirs. Associated Press photos.

Freddie Discovers Need Of 'Scrimmaging Team' At 'Cub Steak' Victory Feast

Sington Returns After Assisting Russell With Bear Eleven; Had Good Year With Lookouts.

By Jack Troy.

Big Freddie Sington, the one-man scrimmage line, has returned from Macon, where he did a yeoman's job, in helping to condition the Mercer line for those first two back-breaking games with Georgia and Navy.

"I never really knew what a great help it was to a coach to have at least three full teams until I saw the situation that confronted Lake Russell."

"He did not have a third team for scrimmage purposes and so it was necessary for me to get in there and give them some needed opposition. I hope I helped some. But the squad was handicapped from the start in not being able to scrimmage properly."

"I enjoyed working with him," said Big Freddie, who was charged with the job of a walking man mountain.

Sington came into the office all bundled up yesterday. He had the appearance of a big Alaskan bear.

IN THE DRAFT.

"Is it that cold outside?" queried one of the boys who was comfortably sitting by a closed window next to a radiator.

"Oh, my, no," responded Mr. Sington. "You see I have been in the baseball draft and sometimes it is very chilling."

Big Freddie had quite a year. He got to play in one full big league game with Washington before he was sent to Chattanooga.

And it is quite a story. It was the night before the Sington family was to be blessed with a boy. Freddie stayed up all that night, caught a morning train for Philadelphia and played the full game. He got one hit in three times up batting against Sullivan.

Freddie pinch-hit in a couple of games. He got a single off Tommy Bridges and then over at Philadelphia he batted for Manush, and broke up a no-hit game for Wilshire.

Freddie was sent down to Chattanooga by Clark Griffith the third week in July and finished out the season with Joe Engel's Lookouts. His record was excellent.

He batted .312 for the Southern league season. He collected 83 base hits in 266 times at bat. Then, too, he scored 48 runs, hit six home runs and drove in 49 runs.

HIT FOR .335.

The year before, playing for Albany in the International league, Sington hit .335. He was second in home run hitting with 29 and during the course of the season batted in 155 runs.

And so Big Fred, who weighs 220 in the winter and 212 during the playing season, has been in the draft. And consequently he was all bundled up as he came up to the office.

"I think Clyde Milan is a swell manager and I like Chattanooga," he said. "But I have a natural desire to play in Atlanta. My home interests are here. My wife's folks live here and I also have many friends in Atlanta."

ALL-AROUND MAN.

"However, I hope to have a good year with Chattanooga next summer. The writing boys up there are very fair and Joe Engel is a great fellow to be around."

Meanwhile, Fred Sington will continue his duties as a crack automobile salesman this winter. The former manager and I like Chattanooga. He is something of an All-American salesman last winter when he peddled an even dozen of the so-called benzine buggies.

He also will officiate in a few foot-

YOUNG CHICAGO TEAM LACKING IN EXPERIENCE

Pilot Seeks Another Good Pitcher; Praises His Ball Club.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Charlie Grimm convinced his Cubs, as now constituted, can win the National league pennant next year and with added experience, the world's championship, too.

"I am satisfied to stand pat on the present lineup," Grimm said today. "And intend to do it. I think the squad we now have is good for three or four years more, and I am going to string along with them. Of course, I would like to get another starting pitcher, but I will not weaken the club in other department to make a trade to get one."

The Chicago manager, before boarding a train for his home in St. Louis, put his characteristic approval on his Cubs, even in World Series defeat.

STILL GENTLEMENS.

"They are still all gentlemen, great big gentlemen so far as I am concerned," Grimm said. "They were nice gentlemen when they won, and they still are."

The only unfinished business of the World Series is the mailing of the players' checks, and a verdict, if any, by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, in the Cub-Morality squabble.

According to official figures each Cub player will receive $4,554.58, including the radio money, while the victorious Tigers will get $6,574.08.

Grimm said that if any of his players are fined, he would pay the money out of his pocket.

THREE CHASED.

Grimm, Woody English and Tuck Stainback were chased by Empire Morality for using ungentlemanly language, according to the umpire. The Cubs charged Morality with cursing them. Landis held court Saturday with the players involved, and another inquiry at Detroit yesterday in regard to Jurgens' language after being called out at the plate after a close play in Chicago Sunday.

The commissioner has given no indications when he will announce his verdict, if any.

Pitcher Lou Warneke, of the Cubs, returned to the hills of the Ozarks today, hoping that the shoulder injury he suffered Sunday will not affect his career next season. Manager Grimm and Trainer Andy Lotshaw believe that inasmuch as no muscle or ligament was torn a few weeks' rest will have the star right-hander back into condition.

Dizzy Dean Tour Is Financial Flop; Must Fill Dates

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean's barnstorming tour is a financial flop—so far, at least. As a result, the usually loquacious pitching star of the St. Louis Cardinals is taciturn.

A week ago, when the tour of about 20 scheduled games opened in Springfield, Dizzy predicted he'd "make more money on this trip than in a whole season with the Cards."

Yesterday Dizzy laconically used only one word—and a frown—to describe the turnouts, "fair."

But his barnstorming pals, Paul Dean and Mike Ryba, also of the St. Louis Nationals, admitted here Monday they "barely are making expenses" and that they would cancel the remaining scheduled games if possible.

Dizzy was elated at a turnout of 4,300 cash customers in Springfield. But he looked the dead Springfield fans will flock to Whiteaway park any time to see him. Brother Paul and Ryba, Paul and Mike helped Springfield win some Western Association championship.

Cold weather has cut attendance and the tour also ran afoul of World Series competition.

The fact Dizzy and Paul aren't together in the tour is a year ago after leading St. Louis to a National league flag and world championship also probably figures in the decreased attendance.

They played before about 900 at St. Joseph, Mo., and went to St. Louis today. The schedule calls for continuing the exhibitions east and south.

General Crowder Will Be Honored

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Oct. 8.—(AP)—General Alvin Crowder, who pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 2-1 victory in the fourth game of the World Series with the Chicago Cubs last Saturday, will be honored by Winston-Salem citizens when he returns to his home here tomorrow.

Mayor R. T. Wilson announced attendance at a meeting of the city's interclub council today that a luncheon in honor of Crowder would be given by the civic clubs. Plans for the luncheon will be made after Crowder has been consulted.

Hope Gatins Will Be Presented To New York Society This Winter

By Sally Forth.

ATLANTANS will read with more than casual interest of the announcement of the formal presentation this winter to New York society of lovely Hope Gatins. Hope, you see, was practically reared here, when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin K. Gatins, lived at The Georgian Terrace. And quite naturally Atlanta is not going to release its claim on such a charming creature as she has grown to be.

Of course you remember when she spent the winter here two years ago with her parents at The Terrace, and what a furor she created among younger members of the masculine contingent with her blond beauty and naive manner. Her only sister is Mrs. Bayard D. Stout, the former Dorothy Gatins, whose brunet loveliness is a perfect foil for Hope's fair coloring.

Last Sunday's New York Herald Tribune carried a stunning picture of Hope in the section devoted to society. Wearing a smart sports costume, she was photographed at Belmont Park, where all the eastern socialites gathered for the recent opening of the racing season.

The Herald Tribune also reports Hope as a prominent member of the debutante committee serving as mannequins during the luncheon-fashion show for the benefit of the social service committee of the New York Eye and Ear Infirmary. The brilliant event was held yesterday in the new Savoy room of the Savoy-Plaza, and the money raised will be used for the patients' library at the infirmary.

The debutante divides her time between New York and Rumson, N. J., where her parents maintain a summer home. Sally hopes that she will find time, during her first season out, to pay Atlanta at least a brief visit, for she is ever a welcome guest and never fails to add glamour and interest to society's gatherings.

WHEN you approach the altar and your knees begin to shake, shift your weight to one foot. According to Mrs. Abner Calhoun, that's a sure cure. Sara Hewlett, who weds Lamar Ellis this evening, will ascend the longest church aisle in Atlanta, that of St. Luke's.

Remarking to Mrs. Calhoun that she was sure she would have an attack of shaky knees, the former, who was Kathryn Jetton until last June, gave the aforementioned advice. Sally passes it along with apologies to Kathryn as advice to the bevy of fall brides.

ALENE COCKE had planned a grand holiday! Her railroad ticket had been bought for a trip to New York. And the drawing room had been engaged. Which was something of a thrill in itself, for Alene admits that she has never ridden in a drawing room.

Once in New York, she was going to see all the plays and visit all the swanky night clubs. An elaborate wardrobe had been assembled for the occasion, much to Alene's taste and liking.

But, best of all, she was to be accompanied by her adored father, Eric Cocke, who is so busy heading the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and opening offices for the reception of President Roosevelt, and a dozen other important things, that Alene says she hasn't seen him in months. That is, except for fleeting glimpses. So they were going to anticipated visitors in Atlanta this week. Amelia Lee, whose engagement to John Kell Martin Jr. was announced Sunday, arrived yesterday to be the guest of Augusta King, one of Atlanta's charming sub-debs, for the wedding parties of John Kell's sister, Catherine, who marries Francis Foster Dugan the latter part of this week.

When Amelia becomes John Kell's bride, those invited to attend the wedding will have the extraordinary pleasure of seeing a very novel and attractive idea demonstrated in the decoration of the bride's table.

Amelia and John Kell both have tiny tinted miniatures of themselves when they were three years old. The workmanship in these pictures is lovely, and both of the children's poses are adorable. So this gave them an idea, and for the top decoration of the wedding cake, tiny dolls made to resemble the pictures and dressed in bridal clothes, will be the effective principal adornment.

Although the wedding will take place at the bride's home in Bardonia, Atlanta will be fortunate in that the attractive couple will reside here after the marriage. Amelia has visited here several times, and it is expected that her acquaintances await her arrival to join Atlanta's married contingent.

Mayfair Country Club Gives Novel Party at Biltmore Hotel

Members of the Mayfair Country Club entertained last evening at a novel party at the Biltmore hotel, the occasion opening the formal winter social season for members of this prominent organization. The interior of the handsome Georgian ballroom where the party was given was decorated to resemble a palatial steamship with the name of the liner, S. S. Mayfair, painted on each side of the boat.

The entrance room into the ballroom represented the ship's docks with its novel decoration. Leading from the foyer on to the steamer was a long gangplank through which the guests passed. Upon boarding the ship the guests were served aperitifs on the upper deck.

Dancing was enjoyed in the beautifully decorated ballroom of the ship until a late hour, the music being furnished by an imported orchestra whose members wore sailors' uniforms. Supper was served in the ship's dining room by waiters who also wore sailor costumes. The guests were received by the officers of the club whose midshipman uniforms continued to carry out the many naval features of the party.

Officers of the Mayfair club are: Simon L. Mendel, president; Sam E. Levy, vice president; Max Feldman, secretary; Abner Hirsch, treasurer; and Dr. Irving H. Goldstein, chairman of entertainment. The next affair to be given by the Mayfair club will be a Thanksgiving Eve's ball. On New Year's Eve the club will again entertain when the members will give their annual ball ushering in the new year.

DOTTED LINE HONEYMOON

By JOSEPH McCORD

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Larry Cutter falls in love at first sight with Jacqueline Anthony, public stenographer at the Hotel Rayner, who longs to travel. Larry, who has traveled much, roughed it and struck gold, starts her by saying she can realize her ambition by marrying him. He presents a contract providing that he shall care for her always but that she may continue living as she is for six months and test up the contract whenever she is dissatisfied with her bargain. Jack signs it, he gives her $10,000 in United States bonds and they are married two days later. She accounts to herself her action by the fact that she has lost her savings in the stock market; also that she is truly the daughter of Vince, an inventor and inventor who supported her mother's death she had hoped until recently when she refused to further his name. She disappeared. He disappeared. Jack doesn't see Larry for two days after the wedding. Detective Staples tells her he's been asked to watch Larry just as she finds Vince ill and requiring an operation. She sells a bond and is angry when Larry pays the hospital bill. They drive out to the place in the country where he was born and his father worked as an inventor. Investors in John Cutter's invention lost everything and Larry's father died under a cloud. A guard orders them away from the barred wire enclosed property. Uncertain suspicious lead Jack to return the lone bonds and the remaining cash.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XXI.

"Thanks," he said. "Was there anything else . . . in particular?"

"No . . . But we're still friends, aren't we?"

"Sure."

It all had turned out so differently from what she had expected. You would think that Larry was in the habit of making calls and having ten-thousand-dollar gifts returned to him. There was that envelope sticking out of his pocket, ready to be lost or stolen. After all, it was ten thousand dollars. Didn't it occur to him that it was something of a sacrifice for a girl to surrender a sum like that? When it represented all she had to show for a bargain such as she had made? She was free now . . . or almost free. Yet the exultation she had expected to feel was strangely lacking.

"I saw Vince a little while after dinner," she reported, for want of something better to say. Larry brightened perceptibly.

"Did you? I saw him a few minutes this afternoon myself. Looks pretty chipper, don't you think?"

"Ever so much better. I suppose you'll be taking him out in the country pretty soon."

"Sure," Larry sat upright.

Activity in the kitchenette served to ease the tension for Jacqueline, although she could not help contrasting the situation with the other little party. She had been happy that night, rather carefully happy. And Larry seemed just as happy now as if nothing had happened to change their relationship.

He remained still nearly midnight, apologizing contritely for the lateness of his departure when he caught up his hat and made ready to go.

"Say the way, Jack," he said that at the door, as if it were something that very nearly had escaped his mind. "Is that sleuthy friend of yours a rather young chap with a dazed look and a bald head?"

"Lieutenant Staples is quite bald."

"I thought so. I really must have a talk with him . . . I don't think so much of his technique. Good night. I'll be seeing you."

True to his suggestion, Larry arranged to take Vince to the country the following morning. It was something of a shock to Jacqueline when she found her patient dressed and sitting in a chair when she called Sunday afternoon.

"I can walk, too," Vince told her proudly. "Went almost all the way down the corridor and back this morning."

"But you will be careful and not overdo."

"Of course I will. It's going to seem mighty good to be up and around. Doc Kennedy says I ought to be better than I've been for years. I'm glad he thinks so, for I've got an awful lot to do."

"It doesn't seem fair," Jacqueline attempted to say lightly. "I no more than find you than you're running off again. I believe you're glad to go away and leave me."

"No, I'm not," Vince said thoughtfully. "It's been nice. You're a lot like your mother, Skipper."

"Am I?"

"Yes . . . I never noticed it before."

"Why, yes, Dr. Kennedy says he can make the trip almost any time. I thought I'd run him up country around the first of the week. He seems anxious to go."

"So I've noticed."

"I've made all the arrangements. I can give him a comfortable trip up in the car and take his traps, too. A few weeks up there should fix him up so that you won't know him."

"I suppose not . . . but I'll miss him."

"Naturally. After spending every evening with him. I still think it would be a good idea for you to go up there with him for a little time. He'll have plenty of room. I'm likely to be away a good deal of the time . . . all the time, if you say the word. The two of you can have everything your own way."

"Thank you, but I must stay here and attend to business."

"I suppose so. You're the busy member of the family. What about running up some Sunday to see Vince after he gets settled? Then you wouldn't worry about him. I'll be glad to drive you up."

"That might be very nice."

"Then it's settled."

Anyone would conclude, to see Larry lounging there so comfortably in that chair, that everything was "settled."

And it wasn't at all. Life merely had slipped back where it was, or nearly so, Jacqueline Anthony was married, but all there was to show for it was a ridiculous contract and a wedding ring. Both locked away in a safety vault. They were worth about as much as those furnace stock certificates which kept them company.

Gone, too, the alluring dreams of travel, the first excitement of the adventure, Jacqueline had allowed herself to associate those bonds with that longed-for "crossing." Now, the suggestion of such things made her hate herself. Far better to be faced with this new indebtedness that would keep her saving and scrimping for some time to come. But it would be worth it.

Her righteous pride would have suffered had she known what was passing through her husband's mind at the moment. Larry was thinking that he must see Rannie Hicks the first thing in the morning. He would tell him to take charge of the bonds and cash, put them in a trust fund, or something of that sort, for Mrs. Cutter. His dark eyes lighted with sudden amusement at the idea.

Jacqueline saw and resented it. Couldn't Larry realize that she had run some risk in asking him to her apartment? For all he knew, Lieutenant Staples might be lurking about . . . She wouldn't brood the idea of Larry's going out on the street.

"I didn't stop to eat dinner to-night," she said impulsively. "Just a sandwich and a glass of milk on my way to the hospital. I think I'll make some coffee. Won't you have some with me?"

"Sure," Larry sat upright.

Activity in the kitchenette served to ease the tension for Jacqueline, although she could not help contrasting the situation with the other little party. She had been happy that night, rather carefully happy. And Larry seemed just as happy now as if nothing had happened to change their relationship.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

III—Wall Street.

On a spring day not quite three centuries ago, a man tacked up a notice in New Amsterdam. The words were in the Dutch language, but this is what they meant:

"Resolved that a fence should be made, beginning at the Great Bowerie, and running to Emanuel's farm. Everyone is warned to go there on the first of the month."

By the time the wall, or fence, was built, New Amsterdam had become a fairly good-sized village. There were now scores of houses and several shops.

A solid looking building of stone came to be used as the "Stadt Huys" or city hall. North of the wall were farms. In times of peace, it was safe for Dutchmen to work on land they had cleared beyond the limits of the village.

Across the river, on Long Island, were other farms; and a ferry took people back and forth. If a man wanted to cross on the ferry, he had to pay for his trip. A list of the prices had come down to us. The heaviest charge was made for a wagon drawn by two horses or two oxen. A pig or a sheep or a goat would be carried across for less than a man or a woman.

"For a child under 10 years, half fare," the price list read.

Sometimes the ferryboat happened to be on the other side of the river. In that case a person would take hold of a hor. hanging from a tree. When he blew it, the ferry master would make him to come back. This might mean more than an hour's wait.

Lead Royal Mounted in Reckless Chase.

BANFF, Alta., Oct. 8.—(AP)—A reckless dash for freedom by three young gunmen tonight had reaped a grim toll of six dead: Four peace officers and two of their accused slayers.

possession in a mad dash through three western Canadian provinces before they were shot down. Posnikoff in a police trap and his comrades by a man-hunting game warden.

The three were suspected of slaying Royal Canadian Mounted Police Constable J. G. Shaw and Municipal Constable W. Wainwright in Saskatchewan last Friday when they were being taken to jail on a charge of shopbreaking.

Wallace, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was fatally wounded and died today. Constable G. C. Harrison was critically wounded.
